NO. 207—SIXTY-SECOND YEAR — VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, SATURDAY, AUGUST 14, 1920 — EIGHTEEN PAGES

FIND LITTLE HOPE OF SAVING WARSAW FROM SOVIET HOST

Military Observers Expect No Effective Defence From Citizens of Polish Capital Who Offer Their Services—Bolshevik Armies Are Advancing Rapidly From Three Sides

TYPHUS EPIDEMIC THREATENING TO ADD TO COUNTRY'S MISERY

PARIS, Aug. 13.—The Northern Reds, according to the latest news tonight, had passed Pultusk and were marching southward on Warsaw. Another column was advancing between the Narew and the Bug, while south of the Bug the enemy had passed the line running from Tluszcz, through Pilvki, Dobre, Kaluszyn, Tsegloff and Latovitch to Zelechoff. Farther south the enemy had succeeded in forcing a passage of the Bug and was moving on Lublin.

The Bolsheviki cavalry along the Prussian frontier has made another bound forward, and is forty miles beyond Mlawa, half way to Thorn.

The Reds are advancing all along the line except in the extreme south. One hundred thousand citizens of Warsaw have pledged themselves to defend the capital to the last breath, but it is felt here that such an unorganized effort cannot seriously affect the fate of the city. This apparently is the view of the Polish Government, which is reported considering moving to Posen.

Belief that Gen. Weygand, of the French army, will not accept the offer made him by the Polish council of national defence to take supreme command of the Polish forces is expressed in an announcement printed by The Temps today.

The Bolsheviki are continuing their westward drive beyond Mlawa toward the Vistula with the object of cutting the last remaining line of communications with the Baltic, Poland's chief base of supply.

From Three Sides

PARIS, Aug. 13.—Closing in upon Warsaw from the north, east and southeast, the Bolsheviki hosts are within twenty miles of the capital, and little doubt is felt here that they will be in the city before the peace negotiations are concluded.

General Haller's army, holding positions along the Vistula, Narew and Bug rivers, is being relentlessly pushed toward the capital by the Bolsheviki who are speeding up their advance.

Germans Aid Bolsheviki

MONTREAL, Aug. 13.—A special cable from Paris to The Star says:

"The French appear firmly of the opinion that Germany is backing the Bolsheviki drive on Poland.

"A report from Swiss military sources today said that Ludendorff, former commander of Germany's armies, was giving the Russians tactical advice right along, and that Germany was sending supplies directly to the Bolsheviki."

WARSAW, Aug. 12.—Preparations are being made to prevent the Bolsheviki from reaching the Posen district. Bolsheviki cavalry driving westward has reached the towns of Blonun and Radsanovo. They are less than thirty miles from the Vistula river.

Typhus Will Sweep Country

WARSAW, Aug. 13.—All the quarantine material of the Poles and the American typhus expedition which has been co-operating with the Polish workers is in the hands of the Bolsheviki. It is said that all possibility of protection against the typhus epidemic from Russia has been wiped out.

Refugees are flocking west of the Vistula en route to Western Poland, some of them in a serious condition. Colonel Harry Gilchrist, commanding the American typhus expedition, said today he expects Poland will experience the worst typhus epidemic in history.

ROYAL BANK STAFF SECURES PRIVILEGE

VANCOUVER, Aug. 13.—The World today carries the following:

"The Royal Bank Staff Association, which comprises most of the employees of the branches in the city, has now been recognized by the general manager of the bank, and its primary object of direct communication between individual clerks and the bank executive has been granted.

"This news was received by telegram today through the Provincial supervisor, answering a wire dispatched by the association following a meeting on Wednesday night."

Caronia's Rapid Passage

HALIFAX, N.S., Aug. 13.—After a run of five days, nine hours and 40 minutes from Liverpool, via Queenstown, the Cunard liner Caronia arrived in port late this afternoon and docked late tonight. She landed 500 passengers and 600 bags of mail. She covered 2,252 miles at an average speed of 17.36 knots an hour.

DENIES ACCIDENT TO POPE BENEDICT

ROME, Aug. 13.—Emphatic denial was given at the Vatican late today to the report printed in The Messaggero that the Pope had sustained a fall.

Monsignor Cerretti, Papal Under-Secretary of State, declared that he returned yesterday from Switzerland, where he had been on a vacation, with Monsignor Charles A. O'Hern, rector of the American College at Rome, and that both he and Monsignor O'Hern saw the Pope on their return and found him perfectly well. There had been no accident, he said.

MR. BUCKWORTH'S VIEW ON P. G. E. PROSPECTS

VANCOUVER, Aug. 13.—Impressed with the potentialities of the country which his company serves, A. B. Buckworth, recently appointed general manager of the Pacific Great Eastern, has just returned from his first inspection of the line from Squamish to Quesnel. The possibility of agricultural development between Lillooet and Quesnel was the particular feature that appealed to him, and in view of the favorable conditions in this district he expects much settlement there in the next few years.

The general manager is looking to see the road do the biggest business in its history this Fall and Winter.

MILL REFUSE MAY BE VALUABLE ASSET

Conversion Into Fuel of Material Now Causing Effluvia Nuisance May Constitute Boon to Industry

Sawmill refuse, the cause of bitter controversy throughout the north end of the city for several years, may be converted into a fuel of inestimable value to Victoria industries, if a scheme now being worked upon proves successful, Mr. D. O. Cameron, secretary of the Cameron Lumber Company, told the Streets Committee of the City Council yesterday afternoon. His statements were supported by Mr. W. E. Nachtrieb, who has also been studying the situation and has complete faith in the project.

Mr. Cameron read a letter sent to the Genoa Bay Lumber Company, of which he is one of the owners, stating that a ton of mill waste represented as many heat units as three-quarters of a ton of good Empeuver Island coal. A so-called Universal heat generator had been invented, Mr. Cameron said, and its promoters claimed that it would turn mill waste into an asset and dispense with the cost of burning coal and fuel oil. The generator effects combustion almost without smoke at all and prevents escape of cinders almost entirely.

Mr. Cameron said that the Empress Hotel and some other industrial concerns had expressed willingness to install the necessary apparatus and consume wood as fuel. He said that plants operating in Victoria and using $80 worth of coal daily could economize to the extent of $30 a day by using wood according to the new plan. If the wood fuel scheme was general-

IS NOT AIDING GEN. WRANGEL

Statement of French Foreign Office Says Agreement Was Reached at Hythe Against Undertaking for Present

DENIES THAT FRANCE ENCOURAGED POLAND

Moscow Reports That Britain Has Stipulated Conditions as Basis for Pourparlers—French Vessel Seized

PARIS, Aug. 13.—France has not determined to aid materially General Wrangel, the anti-Bolsheviki commander in South Russia, as, according to an announcement from the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Premiers Millerand and Lloyd George agreed at Hythe that such aid was not to be undertaken except in certain eventualities. It is considered France will not act until after an exchange of views with Great Britain.

The Foreign Office issued a denial that France had ever encouraged Poland to wage war with the Bolsheviki.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—It was officially stated this afternoon no arrangements were being made for a meeting between Premier Lloyd George and Premier Millerand as a result of France's action in recognizing General Wrangel's Government in South Russia.

"France has taken a stand and maintains it, and Great Britain has done the same thing," the Associated Press was informed.

"There is no need of a conference now. The tension today was considerably lessened."

CHERBOURG, Aug. 13.—A new torpedo boat launched here today has received instructions to report to General Wrangel, at Sebastopol, on the Black Sea.

PARIS, Aug. 13.—Conditions which Great Britain has stipulated as a basis for recognition of the Russian Soviet Government are given in a Moscow dispatch received here. Cessation of hostilities is said to be the first condition, while the others are repatriation of prisoners, an understanding concerning reparations for damage to property of private citizens, and acceptance by Great Britain of the Russian conditions concerning resumption of commercial relations between the two countries.

M. M. Tchitcherin, Bolsheviki Foreign Minister, adds the dispatch, had advised Leo Kameneff at London that the Moscow Government considers these conditions as the basis for peace pourparlers between Russia and Great Britain.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Aug. 13.—Bolsheviki at Odessa seized the French steamers Battavia and prisoners there from France, and refused to release them until the French battleship Edgard Quinet, with three destroyers, was rushed from Constantinople, and threatened to raze the city unless the steamers were released, it was learned today.

Four steamers under French and inter-Allied flags arrived at Odessa with repatriated Russian prisoners, these advices stated. Two were permitted to leave, but the others were boarded by Bolsheviki commissars. The Bolsheviki declared that the Moscow Government had decided to hold the ships. The commissars overlooked a wireless set on board until an S.O.S. message had been sent to Constantinople.

ESQUIMALT ROAD PAVING DECIDED

Esquimalt Road between Point Ellice Bridge and Springfield Avenue may be paved this year, it was learned yesterday at the City Hall.

The Provincial Government has agreed to meet its share of the cost and, while special legislation must be secured to validate the agreement to be entered into between the city and the province, it is probable that an understanding may be reached in the meantime that will make it possible to start actual work within a few weeks.

An agreement as to the paving of this strip of Esquimalt Road, for years the object of complaint on the part of persons using the road and Esquimalt and Victoria West property holders, has been reached between Mayor Porter and City Engineer F. M. Preston and Hon. Dr. J. H. King, Minister of Public Works, and Mr. A. E. Foreman, engineer in the Public Works Department. The Government agrees to pave a strip extending from a point near the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway tracks, Lime Street, to the top of the hill on the Victoria West side of the Point Ellice Bridge. This amounts to about half the total length of the road to be paved. The entire cost of the undertaking will be in the neighborhood of $50,000, and the Provincial Government will be called upon to pay about $20,000 of this. A concrete pavement will be laid, 40 feet wide, with five-foot pavements on each side.

The work is to be carried out on

DOMINION SOLUTION OF IRISH PROBLEM IS SAID TO BE NEAR

Dublin Freeman's Journal Reports That Mr. Andrew Bonar Law Has Promised Pledge of Government to Full Home Rule, With Fiscal Authority—Mr. Wylie's Resignation

IRISH UNIONISTS FAVOR PROPOSAL

Anti-Partition League Passes Resolution Calling for Amendment of Irish Bill So as to Convey Self-Government in Local Affairs—Contradictory Ulster Reports

DUBLIN, Aug. 13.—The Freeman's Journal announced that E. Wylie, legal adviser to Viscount French, Lord Lieutenant of Ireland, has presented his resignation. Rather than accept it, the paper says, Andrew Bonar Law, Government leader in the House of Commons, has promised to pledge the Government on Monday to Dominion Home Rule, with full fiscal authority.

Of course, the newspaper comments, the question of Ulster will be subject to discussion.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—Should the report printed in The Freeman's Journal that the Government has decided to adopt a Dominion solution of the Irish problem prove correct, it will not cause much surprise here.

Mr. Wylie's resignation would be the second resignation from the Viceroy's council, and probably for the same reason as given by Sir Thomas Stafford, who resigned because, as he said, the Premier had refused to take the only step giving a chance for peace, namely, the firm and immediate offer of a form of Dominion Government.

The ministers were in session today discussing the Irish problem. Sir Hamar Greenwood, Chief Secretary for Ireland, was summoned. The movement in favor of Dominion Home Rule, with reservations concerning the army and navy and other questions, has grown with astonishing rapidity in recent months. It is believed to be favored by Premier Lloyd George.

Unionists in Favor

DUBLIN, Aug. 13.—The Irish Unionists' Anti-Partition League, founded last year, declared for self-government in Ireland at a meeting here today, which was attended by representatives of commercial and professional men and landowners. A resolution was unanimously adopted which said the Government's Irish bill now before Parliament was not acceptable to the Irish people and that it should be amended so as to give full control to the Irish people over all local affairs, including taxation.

The resolution urged the Government to act immediately, "as every passing month makes it more difficult."

Important Action

LONDON, Aug. 13.—Reports of yesterday's meeting at Dublin of the Irish Unionist Anti-Partition League are furnished to The London Times by influential Unionists who were concerned with the meeting, among them Lord Castlemaine, Lord Rathdonnell, General Crossbie and Sir Charles Barrington.

A resolution passed by the meeting, the reports show, places on record the league's actions, taken in view of the strong representations which had reached those responsible for the resolution from devolutionists throughout Ireland.

"While still believing legislative union to be the best form of government for Ireland," the resolution says, "it is realized that the British Government has failed to secure observance of law, and has lost the confidence of all classes.

"We therefore feel that our duty to the country and Empire forces us to acquiesce in the only solution of the legitimate troubles which appears to offer a prospect of lasting peace."

The Dublin correspondent of The Times says: "No Unionist action in recent years is regarded as important as that taken today."

Reported Ulster Movement

DUBLIN, Aug. 13.—Nothing is printed in the Dublin newspapers about the departure of a deputation of Ulstermen for London to see Mr. Lloyd George for the purpose of advocating an immediate offer of Dominion home rule to Ireland. In spite of the fact that news of its departure was circulated among English reporters by the publicity department of Dublin Castle. It is reported that the delegation is headed by S. C. Davidson, chairman of the directorate of Cirocco Engineering Works, and one of the largest subscribers to Ulster party funds, who, like many industrial leaders in Ulster, finds his work seriously threatened by the Sinn Fein boycott of Ulster products.

It is considered significant that the Ulsterites are falling in line with the Dublin Chamber of Commerce, which is largely Unionist, and the Southern Unionists in support of Dominion home rule, which they heretofore have decried.

Ulsterman's Declaration

LONDON, Aug. 13.—That Ulster Unionists of all classes were never more united than now, and their confidence in Sir Edward Carson as leader of the Unionist party was never greater, was the substance of a statement made today by R. Dawson Bates, secretary of the Ulster Unionist Council. The statement was made in reference to yesterday's report from Dublin of a "significant split" in the ranks of Sir Edward Carson's followers.

HON. C. C. BALLANTYNE STARTS WESTERN TRIP

OTTAWA, Aug. 13.—Hon. C. C. Ballantyne, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, who is in Montreal today, leaves that city tonight on an extensive Western trip.

He will arrive in Winnipeg Sunday night and spend Monday in the Manitoba capital, proceeding Westward to Prince Rupert in the evening.

The Minister will spend two days in Prince Rupert, leaving for Victoria on Aug. 21, and arriving at Victoria Aug. 24.

Five days, Aug. 25 to Aug. 30, will be spent in Vancouver and vicinity, after which Mr. Ballantyne will proceed East.

The chief business of the trip will relate to the administration of the fishing laws and harbor and general improvements to navigation.

POLAND WILL GET HARSHER TERMS

Advices to Washington Indicate That Bolsheviki Intend Practical Seizure of Old Russian Polish Territory

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—A plebiscite to determine the future of Russian Poland is one of the peace terms drawn up by the Bolsheviki coincident with the first proposal of an armistice by the Polish Government. The right of unrestricted propaganda in this territory in the year intervening before the plebiscite would be demanded.

These and the other terms of peace which are believed to have been formulated for submission at the meeting between the soviet and Polish emissaries, were received today in official circles. While not regarded as final, the terms are accepted here as illustrative of the intention of the invaders to impose peace conditions of a drastic nature.

The other terms include the right of the Soviet Government to unrestricted transmission of all code messages across Poland between Russia and Germany, the turning over of salt and coal mines in Poland for operation by the Soviet Government, and the right of unrestricted travel for all soviet nationals across the Polish frontiers without Polish vise on passports.

The provision for a plebiscite in the portion of Poland formerly belonging to Russia, and the stipulation that the Bolsheviki be granted permission to disseminate propaganda in that territory is viewed by officials as likely to be obnoxious to the Poles. The granting of such demands would, officials here say, result in the loss to the Warsaw Government of Russian Poland, for all Polish national feeling in that region, it is considered, would be beaten out by the Bolsheviki propaganda.

Officials were inclined to believe that the peace terms to be submitted at Minsk will be more severe than those prepared for the Baronvitchi conference, which ended abruptly when the Polish armistice emissaries replied they had no authority to conclude peace.

JOINT RATE RULING NOT YET PUBLISHED

OTTAWA, Aug. 13.—It was announced at the railway commission offices this evening that there would be no statement of the board's decision in the joint freight rate cases today. It is understood that the board arrived at a decision this afternoon regarding the application of the American railway association, but, it was not made public.

It is possible there may be an announcement tomorow morning.

PONZI IS LEFT WITHOUT BAIL

Boston Manipulator of Other People's Money Goes to Jail —Three Similar Operators Are Under Arrest

BOSTON, Aug. 13.—Four men who had accepted millions of dollars from New England investors on promises of payment of fabulous interest were behind bars tonight.

Charles Ponzi, whose spectacular financial dealings have made his name known the country over, was surrendered today by the men who furnished $35,000 bonds for his release yesterday after his arrest by the federal authorities. Unable to find another bondsman, Ponzi was taken to the Middlesex County jail.

Three officers of the Old Colony Foreign Exchange Co. were arrested, taken into the municipal court and held in $50,000 bonds each on a technical charge of larceny of $500 from persons unknown. In default of bonds they spent the night in jail. They are Charles M. Brigtwell, president and treasurer of the concern, Raymond Meyers, office manager, and Fred Meyers, sales agent.

They pleaded not guilty. That the activities of this company might have rivalled in extent the dealings of Ponzi's Securities Exchange Company was intimated by Albert Burwitz, assistant district attorney, when he told the court the amount involved in its transactions probably was hundreds of thousands of dollars. The three men will be given a hearing on August 24.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—A preliminary peace treaty has been concluded between the Russian Soviet Government and Armenia, says a wireless dispatch received here from Moscow.

British Labor Takes "Direct Action" Line

Conference of Representatives of Various Organizations Passes Resolutions Against Intervention in Aid of Poland—Radical Demands Are to Be Made on Government

LONDON, Aug. 13.—The opposition of British labor to assistance in the war against Russia was voiced today with unanimity at a conference representing all elements of the workers. Resolutions adopted "hailed with satisfaction the Russian Government's declaration in favor of the complete independence of Poland," and pledged the British Labor party to resist any form of military intervention.

The meeting approved the action of the triple alliance of labor organizations in forming a council of action to deal with the situation arising from the Government's policy toward the war between Russia and Poland, and it recommended the levy of a half-penny upon every member of the party to raise a fund for the requirements of the council.

The adoption of the resolutions viva voce was ratified by the delegates at the invitation of Wm. C. Adamson, chairman of the Labor party in the House of Commons, who presided over today's meeting. He asked them to observe "the solemnity of standing" for a minute, and the delegates unanimously complied with his request.

James H. Thomas, Secretary of the National Union of Railwaymen, one of the principal speakers at the meeting, said that if circumstances demanded it would be for the whole labor movement to decide upon direct action.

"Desperate and Dangerous"

"Desperate and dangerous as our measures are," he said, "we believe that the disease is so dangerous and the situation so desperate that it is only desperate and dangerous methods that can prevent calamity. The resolutions do not mean that it is to be a mere strike or a simple down-tools policy. If they are to be effective they mean a challenge to the whole constitution of this country."

Robert Smillie, of the miners' organization, in discussing the situation said:

"If France and General Wrangel cut off Russia's commercial supply, will it be interfering too much with France if the British miners and railway men cut off France's supply?"

Asserting that the British Labor party leaders were the only people able to prevent an attack on Russia, he went on to say amid cheers:

"I want to thank our comrade Winston Churchill for uniting the British democracy. We could not do it ourselves. Now the British people have achieved unity, God send us the sense to preserve it."

Tom Shaw, Secretary of the International Textile Workers' Union, bitterly attacked the League of Nations for not preventing Poland's offensive against Russia. The present conference, he said, was "the beginning of a movement that will lead to a real league."

He asserted the "Bolsheviki were immensely superior to the Allies in their frank dealings with other countries."

Robert Williams, General Secretary of the Transport Workers' Union, asserted that labor was far more representative of the sentiment of the country than the House of Commons, and better qualified to pass on the "go to war and go to hell" policy.

The conference concluded by singing the "Internationale" and cheering enthusiastically. By its resolutions the council of action was instructed to remain in being until it secured guarantees that the British forces would not be used in support of Poland, Gen. Wrangel or any other military or naval effort against Soviet Russia; secondly, the withdrawal of the British naval forces blockading Russia; and thirdly, the recognition of the Soviet Government and the establishment of unrestricted trading and commercial relations between Great Britain and Russia.

NORRIS CABINET APPEARS SAFE

Failure of Other Factions to Combine Gives It Reasonable Chance of Security—Labor Party's Stand

WINNIPEG, Aug. 13.—Supporters in the Legislature of Premier Norris who were seen today expressed the opinion that the Government's position in the House had not been impaired by yesterday's conferences of the Independent Farmer, Labor and Conservative groups.

"As long as the three other factions in the House fail to come to an understanding the Government's position is unassailable," said one member.

"We recognize that an alliance between the progressive farmers and labor will be the basis of future government, but the labor party has its principles and will stand by them," said W. D. Bayley, Labor member for Assiniboia, today.

"At Thursday's meeting no common basis of action was reached between the Labor and Farmer members. Labor will absolutely stand by its platform, and what we have been struggling for for years will not be set aside just to get into power a few months earlier. Labor has a perfectly clear policy, and there will be no divergence from it on any grounds."

Food Is an Effective Weapon of Soviets

Traveller Finds Support of Lenine-Trotzky Regime Really Strong Only Near Moscow, Where Distribution Means Are Controlled—Weakness Increases With Distance From Capital

TERIJOKI, Finland, Russian Frontier, Aug. 11.—Development of the Soviet Government has been such that today the vast Russian territory is divided into three distinct sections in the attitude of the people toward Bolshevism.

In a recent 4,000 mile trip across the country, from Vladivostok to the Finnish border, the Associated Press correspondent observed that Soviet support diminished with increasing distance from the capital at Moscow.

In the remote Eastern section of Siberia the Bolsheviki admit failure to establish their system, and are seeking to create a buffer state known as "the Far Eastern Republic."

Siberia proper, from Irkutsk to the Urals, where eight months ago Bolshevism was welcomed as a relief from the Koltchak regime, is ready for another change to anything which will bring economic betterment. Proceeding westward, the traveler finds European Russia, like a great mobilized army in starvation circumstances and cursing the Reds, yet executing their orders passively.

The apportionment of food, as well as the relative proximity to the military headquarters, apparently is a vital factor in maintaining Soviet support. Everywhere through Siberia one hears stories that the peasants are refusing to plant their fields or raise stock because of repeated requisitions.

From Samara, on the Volga, to Moscow, hundreds of miles of wheat fields at the height of the harvest late in July were filled with countless aged peasants, women and children. Many of the reapers were women and children who came from Moscow and Petrograd and declared they had been promised a share in the crop.

MANITOBA FARMERS GIVE TARIFF VIEWS

WINNIPEG, Aug. 13.—The elimination of the duties now levied on farm implements entering this country, and taking off, within five years, of duties now levied on British goods coming into Canada, will be asked for by representatives of the United Farmers of Manitoba, who will appear before the tariff commission hearing in Winnipeg, September 15. This announcement was made today by W. R. Wood, secretary of the United Farmers.

D. J. Dixon, president of the prairie branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, said today the branch here would have representatives watching the proceedings. He said that as far as he, personally, was concerned, he could see no grounds to oppose either of the main requests to be made by the farmers. He declared that production was essential, and he thought no levies which interfered with production should be permitted.

NO RECORD OF SMALL AT MORGUE IN PARIS

PARIS, Aug. 13.—There is no record of Ambrose Small, the Canadian theatrical man who disappeared last Winter, at the Paris morgue.

PARIS POLICE HEADQUARTERS.—The Canadian Commissioner and the British Embassy have no trace of Small.

A report was published yesterday that Louis P. Verande, a French impresario, who knew Small, had identified the theatrical man's body at the Paris morgue.

SOVIET FORCES DRIVE FORWARD

Capture of Mlawa and Pultusk, in North, Are Reported—Poles Win Success in South—Defence of Capital

WARSAW, Aug. 13.—Mlawa, an important city on the Warsaw-Danzig railroad, about 50 miles northwest of this city, has been taken by the Russian Bolsheviki, reports in military circles here last night say.

Soviet forces are creeping along the Prussian frontier, and are gradually working their way westward toward the Vistula River. This stream appears to be the immediate objective of the Bolsheviki offensive at present, as the Soviet armies are also making an effort to reach it just west of Warsaw from Ciechanow. The advance along the northern frontier has suggested to observers that the Bolsheviki plan to strike the Vistula River near Vlostavek and other points.

Observers believe the Bolsheviki plan is to bring up artillery to the battle line in the event they fail to cross the Vistula in force.

LONDON, Aug. 13.—The capture of Mlawa and Pultusk and the occupation of Siedice are announced by the Russian Soviet military headquarters today.

The communique received here says:

"We captured Mlawa August 10. We have occupied Pultusk. We occupied Siedice August 10. We have occupied a number of points eight miles east of Lukoff.

"In the Cholm region we crossed the Bug and occupied a line of villages north of Cholm.

"In the region of Vladimir-Volynskky, we occupied Grubieegoff and Kryloff.

"Along the River Dniester and the shores of the Black Sea there is no change."

WARSAW, Aug. 12, 11 p.m.—Russian Soviet forces which are attacking the Polish lines northeast and east of here have reached a point 25 miles from Warsaw. A state of siege has been declared here by the military governor. Civilians are not permitted on the streets after 10 p.m., and cafes must close at 9 p.m.

The determination of the Bolsheviki to press onward to Warsaw showed itself at various points along the battle line today, there being hand-to-hand fighting in many instances. The Poles savagely defended their positions, and contested every foot of ground given up to the invaders.

Fighting was reported today within 30 miles of Warsaw. It was said Pultusk changed hands several times, and last accounts were that fighting was going on in the streets. The Poles were holding the west bank of the Narew River at this point, beating off the Bolsheviki from the north and hurling back other enemy forces which were trying to cross the river.

Warsaw hummed tonight with military activity, but only soldiers and officers were allowed in the streets.

Preparations for the defence of Warsaw were made, and lights burned until late in the War Office and the Foreign Office, where affairs of state were being discussed. The terms and conditions to be carried by the Polish delegates who will meet the Soviet representatives Saturday to discuss peace preliminaries were also being drafted. It was decided late tonight that two American and two British newspaper correspondents, as well as several Polish, French, Italian and Spanish journalists will accompany the peace delegation. Just how long the delegation will remain at Minsk is unknown, but diplomats said tonight they expected the conference would last four or five days or longer.

The Associated Press will be represented and an effort will be made to send daily dispatches either direct by wireless or by courier to Moscow.

It was announced tonight that outgoing personal messages would not be accepted at the telegraph offices. This is a military measure to prevent news of troops' movement getting out.

WARSAW, Aug. 12, 11:25 p.m.—Polish success on the southern front, where the Russians have been pushing for Lemberg, are reported in tonight's official statement. The Polish cavalry and infantry have ousted the Bolsheviki from Radziechoff, Lopatyr, Stanislavesyk and Torporoff. These towns are in the district northwest of Lemberg and to the west and northwest of Brody, on the old Galician border.

Fighting is continuing still further south along the Stripa, in the Buczacz area.

In the north the Poles are still falling back, the statement announcing that they have evacuated Mlawa and Pultusk.

RUSSIANS MEAN TO TAKE WARSAW

Delay Peace Negotiations on Various Pretexts in Hope of Conquering Capital—Poles Endeavor to Negotiate

WARSAW, Aug. 13.—Responsibility for continuance of the fighting in Poland was today placed on the Russian Soviet Government by Prince Eugene Sapieah, Polish Foreign Minister, in a telegram sent to Sir Eric Drummond, general secretary of the League of Nations. The Foreign Minister's telegram was as follows:

"As a member of the League of Nations, the Polish Government thinks it is its duty to officially inform the league that the attitude of the Russian Soviet Government has made a cessation of hostilities impossible.

"This is true, notwithstanding the fact that the Polish Government's declaration to the supreme council on July 6 emphasized its desire for peace, and notwithstanding reiterated efforts to obtain an armistice and a just and lasting peace.

"Under tortuous pretexts, the Soviet Government up to the present has refused to enter peace negotiations or fix armistice conditions. Nevertheless, the Polish Government has not and will not cease to do everything possible to conclude an honorable peace, but declines all responsibility for prolongation of the war, which entirely falls on the Soviet Government."

PARIS, Aug. 13.—Plans are under consideration for a renewal of the conference between Premier Lloyd George and Premier Millerand, it was learned today. It was said that others might also attend.

WARSAW, Aug. 12.—Polish commissioners with authority to negotiate a preliminary treaty of peace expect to leave Warsaw early Saturday to meet Soviet delegates somewhere on the road between Warsaw and Brest-Litovsk, the Foreign Office announced today. The meeting will take place between 5 and 7 p.m.

After meeting the Soviet delegates, the Polish commissioners probably will be taken to Minsk, where the peace conference is expected to take place.

The two-man mission that went to the front to inform the Bolsheviki that Poland wished to send peace delegates returned today, and there is a more confident feeling than has been prevalent during the past fortnight. High officials said they considered the fall of the city now out of the question.

Polish marks, which recently have been selling at 270 for $1, rose to $1.75.

Air raids over the Bolsheviki lines are a daily part of the city's defence, aviators flying from the Warsaw aerodrome every twenty or thirty minutes for the front. One aeroplane caught fire when starting on a raid, the pilot and observer being killed, and four civilians were killed and six injured by the explosion of bombs when the plane struck the earth.

A branch of the American Legation has been established in Posen, where it will await developments. John Campbell White, secretary of the American Legation, will remain in Warsaw as long as possible.

Edward Noble, of Boston, Mass., a lieutenant in the Kosciusko squadron of aviators, wounded during the Kiev campaign, has been promoted to captain and awarded the highest Polish military decoration.

FRECKLE-FACE

Sun and Wind Bring Out Ugly Spots—How to Remove Easily

Here's a chance, Miss Freckle-face, to try a remedy for freckles with the guarantee of a reliable concern that it will not cost you a penny unless it removes the freckles; while if it does give you a clear complexion the expense is trifling.

Simply get an ounce of Othine—double strength—from any druggist and a few applications should show you how easy it is to rid yourself of the homely freckles, and get a beautiful complexion. Rarely is more than one ounce needed for the worst case.

Be sure to ask the druggist for the double strength Othine as this strength is sold under guarantee of money back if it fails to remove freckles. (Advt.)

EXPORT REGULATION FOR FRUIT PACKAGES

OTTAWA, Aug. 13.—Packages of fruit and vegetables from Canada to the United States must be marked net weight. Such is the information conveyed in a wire received by the Fruit Commissioner's branch of the Department of Agriculture.

Hitherto some doubt has existed in the minds of growers if such a condition, which was imposed by a recent amendment to the Food and Drugs Act, would be insisted upon. Pending a determination, however, of whether the quantity of the contents must be marked on small open containers inclosed within crates no action will be taken by the department if the containers are not marked.

RAILROADS SEEK JOINT TARIFFS

American Railway Association Applies for Through Rates on Lines Crossing Border—Board Defers Judgment

OTTAWA, Aug. 13.—At the adjournment of the railway case before the Board of Railway Commissioners yesterday, Chief Commissioner Carvell brought up the matter of joint tariffs between the United States and Canada. He stated that an application had been filed by the American Railway Association setting forth the Interstate Commerce Commission judgment on the through rate between the United States and Canada, the commission having granted the roads an advance of 40 per cent. The new rate, Mr. Carvell added, went into effect on Aug. 25, and he had brought the matter up at the earliest possible moment in order that the public might be made fully aware of the matter.

The Board had obtained from its traffic officer a memorandum in which he recommended joint through rates between the United States and Canada in both directions. He further stated that "having regard to the large volume of traffic interchanged between the two countries and the benefit accruing to traders and the general public through the medium of joint through rates, instead of combinations of the local rates of each country, respectively to and from the border gateways, I consider it highly important that the practice followed in previous cases be followed in connection with the present application also."

An informal discussion followed, counsel for the several railways represented setting forth arguments in favor of the adoption of the traffic officer's report. There was some opposition voiced, the fear being expressed that joint rates might have the effect of raising local rates on certain lines from points through which international traffic moves. It was urged that the Board should not interfere with the local rates.

In the end Mr. Carvell adjourned the further hearing until this morning, when he expressed the Board's willingness to hear further arguments that anybody interested might desire to advance.

The commission this morning reserved judgment in the application of the American Railway Association for an increase of 40 per cent on the Canadian portion of the rate on through lines.

George Geary, corporation counsel of the city of Toronto, had some comments to make on the application. Mr. Geary said the application was approved by the Canadian roads because they feared that American roads might hold up coal supplies. There was even a veiled threat in the application that the United States might take a hand in stopping the shipment of coal to Canada. The Board, he urged, should not allow itself to be influenced even by threats of the United States Government.

Chief Commissioner Carvell, however, testified to the friendliness of the Interstate Commerce Commission of the United States. The utmost willingness had been shown, he said, to give Canada all the coal possible.

J. B. Coyne, representing Western boards of trade, said there seemed to be an effort on the part of the railways to stampede the Board into granting the application. The decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission had granted the increase of 40 per cent on freight rates to American roads in July. Why had the application now before the Board not been made immediately following that decision? The railways were coming before the railway commission weeks after the United States increase and representing themselves as being in a terrific hurry to line up on the through traffic. He took strong ground that there should be no increase granted until the Board decided the question as to whether the railways were or were not entitled to a general advance in rates.

J. Macdonald, representing the Province of Manitoba, read a short statement in which he submitted that the present application should remain in abeyance until the matter was settled in its entirety.

MONTREAL TIGHTENS LIQUOR RESTRICTIONS

MONTREAL, Aug. 13.—A tightening up in the prohibition regulations in the city was evident yesterday when the Russell Hotel and a club lost their licences for infractions of the law, in addition to paying fines, while a number of other institutions were fined for breach of the law.

The licence committee at its meeting decided that no licences could be granted to new applicants. It was asked to grant 26 new licences, and refused to do so. The verdict of the commission was that most of the new applications are not clubs in the true sense of the word, but just organized to sell liquor after hours, and the commissioners were therefore unanimous in refusing any further applications.

BOLSHEVIKI SEND DIAMONDS TO U.S.

Jewels Thought to Be Part of Russian Crown Property, Seized by Customs—Addressed to Ludwig Martens

WASHINGTON, Aug. 13.—More than 100 diamonds, supposed to have been a part of the famous jewels of the Russian royal family, and addressed to "Comrade Martens," have been intercepted by the customs officials while en route from Soviet Russia to the United States, according to evidence introduced at the deportation proceedings against Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, self-styled soviet ambassador to this country.

Details of a regularly established courier service between Bolshevist agents in Sweden and soviet representatives in New York, by which large quantities of jewels have been transported for six months past also have been introduced in the testimony by the Government, it became known today at the department of justice.

"The diamonds, numbering 131 in all, were seized July 22 by the customs authorities in New York from a Swedish sailor, Nels Jacobsen, who attracted suspicion as he was leaving the Swedish steamer Stockholm. The sailor also was said to have had in his possession a package containing a large amount of communist literature, including an "appeal of the executive committee of the Third Internationale at Moscow to the I.W.W."

The diamonds were described by federal officials as plainly "loot."

They were said to be perfectly cut and polished, and for this and other reasons, they are believed to have formed a part of the Imperial Russian crown collection, which the Bolsheviki are said to have confiscated.

The theory of the government officers is that the diamonds were being sent to this country to be disposed of and the proceeds to be used in furthering Bolshevist propaganda in the United States.

It was learned today that this was the new evidence which was introduced here recently by the Government at the hearings against Martens, and which resulted in the proceedings being postponed until later this month, at the request of Martens' counsel.

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Ludwig C. A. K. Martens, unrecognized Russian Soviet ambassador to the United States, today disclaimed any knowledge of the diamonds addressed to him which, it was brough out at his deportation hearings, had been intercepted in New York by customs authorities.

There are 13 persons in the royal party, he has a suite of 13 rooms at his hotel here, he was Number 13 at the royal table on board ship, and he said the reason he booked passage on the Korea Maru was that he expected to arrive here on Friday, the 13th.

GREEK PREMIER PROGRESSES WELL

Recovering in Hospital From Wounds Inflicted by Assailants—Pistol Bullet Removed From His Shoulder

PARIS, Aug. 13.—Premier Venizelos of Greece, who was wounded here yesterday when fired upon by two young Greeks, spent a good night in a hospital, and is in no danger, it was announced today. The bullet which lodged in his left shoulder was extracted this morning.

George Thyriakis and Apostolois Iserppia, his assailants, acted through personal motives, according to the Greek legation. After the fall of former King Constantine they were removed from the Greek army and navy by the Venizelos Government because of their open pro-German sentiments, it is said.

Police officials have found documents in Greek, German and French in the men's rooms.

Attending physicians issued this bulletin:

"A ball which was broken into four parts and lodged in the muscles of the rear wall of the armpit has been extracted under the X-ray. The condition of Premier Venizelos is very satisfactory, but absolute rest is necessary."

It was expected the Premier will be able to leave hospital in three days.

"CAPTAIN" MELLOR'S CHECKERED CAREER

HALIFAX, Aug. 13.—According to a report to the Nova Scotia Government by W. B. McCoy, secretary of industries and immigration, Captain Paul Mellor, the ocean liner heart-smasher who was reported arrested in Edinburgh, has had a checkered career. It says in part that "the captain" was removed from the British forces in 1915 when he had been a second lieutenant. "A short time before coming to this Province he was released from one of the English prisons," the report states, and adds that his father is not a peer, as Mellor stated to the authorities here.

A Canadian Associated Press dispatch yesterday reported Mellor's arrest at Edinburgh charged with false pretences. Mellor won the affections of Miss Heleh Butler, a Manchester typist, who was on her way to Canada to marry a Canadian soldier. Upon her arrival at Halifax she was reshipped to England, Mellor following her there.

BASSOFF TO FACE TRIAL ON MONDAY

Bandit Is Held in Close Confinement at Lethbridge Jail—Areloff Thought to Have Escaped Across Boundary

LETHBRIDGE, Aug. 14.—Bassoff, the bandit, will face the magistrate in Alberta Provincial Police court here on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. He has not yet retained counsel, but the police say his friends have lots of money, and it is expected the best criminal lawyer in Alberta will defend him.

He is under strong guard in the cells at the Provincial Police station, and this morning orders came from Superintendent Bryan, of the Provincial Police at Edmonton, that no one was to be allowed to see him. He is receiving medical attention daily, and seems to be progressing favorably.

On Thursday evening he saw a number of pressmen who have been covering the man-hunt, and though he talked grudgingly and told nothing he had not told the police, he admitted his connection with the Bellevue tragedy in a general way. He does not like reporters, however, and refused to give an official interview.

His pal, Areloff, is reported to have crossed the boundary at Gateway, Fernie is now the headquarters of the hunt for the last bandit.

Three charges will be placed against Bassoff on Monday, one by the Mounted Police for the murder of Corporal Usher, one by the Alberta Provincial Police for the murder of Constable Bulley, and one by the Canadian Pacific Railway charging him with holding up a train on August 2.

GREECE REQUIRES CANADIAN WHEAT

Sir George Foster Denies That Order for $25,000,000 Worth Has Been Lost—Medium Market Changed

OTTAWA, Aug. 13.—In reply to the cabled newspaper report that the Dominion of Canada had lost an order for $25,000,000 worth of wheat as a result of the removal of Government control, Sir George Foster, Minister of Trade and Commerce, says the statement is misleading. Sir George, interviewed by the Canadian Press, said:

"It is quite true that intimations have come from the Greek Government that they would be in the market for wheat and were especially desirous of obtaining that wheat from Canada. The inquiry from the Greek Government was referred to the Canadian Wheat Board and dealt with by that board in accordance with the circumstances of the case, incident on the decontrol of the wheat market for the crop of 1920.

"The demand for wheat for import by Greece has not been altered." Sir George continued, "and the source of supply remains as before, and the matter is no doubt being taken up under the normal conditions of trade now that the Wheat Board ceases to function for the present season's crop.

"It is unfortunate that the cablegram referred to is misleading in its positive statement that the Dominion has lost a $25,000,000 order. The Greek Government's needs are the same as before, and their desire for Canadian wheat is presumably just as strong. The only thing which is likely to take place is the change of medium through which the purchase shall be made. The gist of the statement by cable is only confirmatory of what is already well known here, that the Government is not, through the Wheat Board, undertaking the sale of Canada's wheat for the present year, and that such sale in marketing assumes the channels and methods of normal times."

PAPER SCARCE IN BRAZIL

RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 13.—Representatives of a Swedish company have made proposals to the Brazilian government looking to the establishment of a print paper manufacturing plant in the state of Parana. Among other advantages asked of the government is that of free entry of necessary machinery. According to the company's representatives, there is an abundance of necessary material for print paper manufacture in Parana and other states. Local publishers, who have for some months been occupied with problems growing out of the scarcity and high price of imported print paper, are unanimously in favor of the manufacturing project. In the meantime they are meeting frequently to discuss measures of economy at which reduction in the size of newspapers and increased advertising rates and subscriptions were under consideration.

RATE SITUATION IS ILLUSTRATED

National Railway Cites Example of Freight Charges on Cars of Binders—Proportion to Value Decreased

TORONTO, Aug. 13.—The Canadian National Railway has issued the following statement in connection with the application for freight rate increases:

"A rather interesting sidelight on the freight rate situation, dealing more particularly with conditions in Western Canada, was furnished by statistics from Canadian National Railway officers here today.

"It was pointed out, for example, that the value of a car of seven-foot binders in 1918 was $1,815. By 1917 it has risen to $2,013, the following year to $2,618, and in 1919 to $2,728.

The freight charge against this carload of seven-foot binders from 1908 to 1913 was $128. In 1915 it was $124, in 1917 it was $126, in 1918 it was $165, and in 1919 it was $163. The percentage of freight charges to the value of the contents of this car was 7.05 per cent in 1908; 6.25 per cent in 1917 and 6.04 per cent in 1919. That is to say, while the value of the car of binders had risen from $1,815 in 1908 to $2,728 to 1919, the percentagg of the freight charge had actually decreased from 7.05 per cent in 1908 to 6.04 per cent in 1919.

"Much the same condition obtains in connection with statistics bearing upon the value of these.

"The freight charges are based on the sixth class rate, Toronto to Winnipeg, effective on September 1 of each year, the minimum weight being 20,000 pounds to each car."

PRESS DELEGATES START WESTWARD

Leave Sarnia on Steamer Hamonic for Western Part of Tour—Lord Burnham to Be Made Blackfoot Chief

SARNIA, Ont., Aug. 13.—Delegates to the Imperial Press Conference and members of the Empire Press Union left Sarnia last night by the steamer Hamonic.

Viscount Burnham, speaking at a luncheon at the Chamber of Commerce in his honor, said: "We are proud of Great Britain and not ashamed of the British Empire. It stands for peace, justice and liberty, and has nothing in common with the armshackle empires of the past."

Viscount Burnham referred to the spirit of co-operation and the feeling which had the interests of the Commonwealth at heart, as the only means by which a British citizen could become of the highest type.

CALGARY, Aug. 13.—Gleichen has the stage all set for the reception and entertainment of the Imperial Press party next Thursday morning, August 19, and one of the principal features of the programme will be the adoption of Lord Burnham into the Blackfoot tribe, whose members, under the leadership of Chief Yellow Horse, will make him a full-fledged chief. His name will not be selected until the Indians see him, and this element of uncertainty is expected to add zest to the ceremony.

The press party will arrive at Gleichen about 7 a.m., and at 8:45 there will be an informal reception. It will be really informal, too. At 9 o'clock cars will be provided to take the visitors about the surrounding country for an hour, and three different routes have been selected so that the dust nuisance will not be present. At 10 o'clock the party will go to the fair grounds, where Lord Burnham will be created an Indian chief, and at 10:30 the stampede programme, arranged especially for the occasion, will be started.

At high noon the Indians, Mounted Police, provincial police and cowboys will form a procession and escort the guests to their special trains, which will depart at 12:15 for Calgary.

FOREST FIRES RAGE NORTH OF VANCOUVER

VANCOUVER, Aug. 13.—Vancouver continues to be enveloped in a heavy smoke cloud and six bush fires are reported raging on the north shore. There were four in Lynn Valley, one at the foot of Grouse Mountain, and another on the plateau.

More than a hundred men, including fire wardens and volunteer residents from the immediate vicinity, are putting forth every effort to check the fire in the Lynn district. The whole of the north shore is obscured with smoke, and ashes and cinders are carried miles in every direction. A second pumping engine was called into action.

Canadian Bread Prices

OTTAWA, Aug. 13.—The price of bread in Canada, taking the whole Dominion for an average, increased during June to the extent of nearly half a cent per a 24-ounce loaf. Flour increased in cost 65 cents a barrel, equivalent to 1-4 cent a pound, or about 2-5 cent per 24-ounce loaf. The total average cost of bread throughout the Dominion was 8 3-5 cents per pound, equivalent to 12 9-10 cents per 1 1-2 pound loaf.

Denver Car Track Damaged

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 13.—Explosives under the rails on the Stout Street car line damaged the track and crippled a car today. No one was injured. A switch at the stockyards was molested also. Police said it was the work of striking carmen or sympathizers.

Will Fly to Panama

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 13.—Announcement that twenty-two seaplanes of the Pacific air fleet detachment, based at the North Island Naval Air Station will make a flight from San Diego to Panama starting January 8, was made last night.

QUEBEC WILL HAVE I. T. U. CONVENTION

ALBANY, N.Y., Aug. 13.—The International Typographical Union yesterday afternoon chose Quebec for its 1921 convention.

The monthly per capita tax for the maintenance of the Union Printers' Home in Colorado Springs will be increased from twenty to thirty cents under an amendment to the bylaw approved yesterday.

The report of the secretary-treasurer showed the membership to be 74,719. Total earnings for the year ended May 31 last were $32,130,091, an increase of forty per cent over the previous year. The organization's total assets on July 31 last were $1,908,903.

FORMER SOLDIERS BECOME TEACHERS

TORONTO, Aug. 13.—Two hundred ex-soldiers of Ontario will enter upon their new duties when the public schools of Ontario open on September 1. The entry of the war veterans into the teaching profession is regarded with great favor by the education department authorities, because the male school teacher has lately been disappearing from public school life.

It was one of the last acts of Hon. H. J. Cody, when Minister of Education in the Hearst Government, to provide for the training at public expense of returned men for the teaching profession. To his call there was a splendid response, the students including ex-officers, men with business experience, men with university training, ex-N.C.O.'s, young men and married men of mature age and experience.

PEACE CONDITIONS.

When Poland has been finally conquered the Bolsheviki will impose the peace conditions they have drawn up already. How drastic these are is becoming more apparent as the terms leak out. Among them is one whereby Poland must take a plebiscite to determine her future and in the year intervening before such plebiscite is to be taken the Soviet Government of Russia is to be permitted to carry on unrestricted propaganda in the territory. In addition, the salt and coal mines of Poland are to be turned over to Russia for operation by the Soviet Government, and Soviet nationals are to have the right of unrestricted travel across the Polish frontier and through Poland to and from Germany. Then, what the Soviet Power designates the proletariat, is to become an armed force, whereas Poland otherwise is to be restricted in the military force she can maintain. The whole object of the peace terms is to make Poland a communistic nation whether she wants to become such or not.

Russia's object in demanding the right of unrestricted travel across Poland is to strengthen herself and her propaganda in Germany, and no doubt this provision has been dictated from German sources. Such a peace as is proposed is humiliating in the extreme. If it is submitted to by the Allied Powers it means that they have abdicated from any position they enjoyed in taking part in the settlement of affairs in Eastern Europe. The imposition of these terms, which will make Poland a mere appendage of Soviet Russia, will show that the spirit of justice and fair play in the world is fast decaying. Small nations will cease to look to the Great Powers as their guardians against unwarranted interference. Whatever reliance has hitherto been placed on the public law of Europe will disappear, just as it disappeared at the behest of Prussian Militarism. The new autocracy of Russia is commencing to cow the world. With Poland gone as an independent state, and Central Europe in a condition of political chaos, the frontiers of civilization against the disintegrating forces of fanaticism must be on the Rhine. History will show that the present age suffered most from a lack of statesmanship, for the politicians of the Allied Countries seem to be rendered inert through a process of blackmail which prevents them from preserving the honor of their nations. Poland's downfall marks the beginning of the tearing up of the Treaty of Versailles.

THERE IS COMMON GROUND.

Mr. Mackenzie King says that Liberalism and Conservatism have nothing in common. We hope he is more broad-minded than to believe this, which must surely have been said for political effect alone. Liberals, just as much as Conservatives, and vice versa, have the interests of their country at heart, and if we exclude the tariff question, which is purely a material consideration, they have a common desire to see the Dominion prosper. It is time that our politicians took a higher ground in their criticism of one another. There are ideals regarding education and cultural development, affecting honorable dealing and straightforward living, relating to the development of the moral and physical life of the Dominion, which should be placed a long way before those matters which now occupy the political speeches of our party leaders. There are many outstanding problems where those who hold diverse views on other subjects can find common ground and work together for the good of Canada.

What Mr. King says about Premier Meighen's party having turned the established procedure of Parliament into an autocracy is purely a figure of speech for which there is no basis of fact. It is an illustration of what we mean by saying that time is wasted in talking of impalpable conditions when the essentials of life are clamoring for treatment. We doubt if anyone could tell us the difference between a Conservative and a Liberal in these latter days, except so far as their viewpoints on the tariff question are concerned. The members of both parties are good Canadians, who see, according to their lights, what should be done to make the country better than it is, but the vision on both sides often gets blurred by the acrimonious differences that arise. So far as nomenclature goes there are just as staunch Liberals following the standard of Premier Meighen as are to be found among the leaders or in the ranks of the party which owes allegiance to Mr. King. The latter is honest and above board in his dealings, but he is carried away by the enthusiasm he is endeavoring to infuse into a name, and in doing so he is resurrecting all the old shibboleths which adorned, and sometimes disgraced, political parties of the past.

What a pity it is that political life cannot be put on a higher plane, and that sometimes, at least, elections are not fought on issues ethical rather than material. What the whole world is crying out for is leadership with a soul, and for lack of it there is unrest everywhere. Premier Meighen, it is true, has pleaded for a broader vision, and for a realization that we are all Canadians who should work unitedly for the betterment of Canada in every sphere of advancement. Mr. King says his party and the Conservatives, meaning Mr. Meighen and his followers, have nothing in common. Every goal will be attained all the sooner by co-operation, and there should be certain subjects of general development upon which all can be agreed if none will allow political bias to stand in the way. We are suffering from a plethora of political parties in Canada, none of which will budge an inch from its "platform." This uncompromising attitude is not in the best interests of the Dominion, especially during a time of reconstruction. The materialistic conception has got us all in its grip, and we are losing sight of the higher values in political, social and economic life. If there is no common ground between the two great political parties of the country then the outlook for the future is well nigh hopeless. We refuse to believe Mr. King's statement, but draw attention to it to show the injurious thoughts that may be inflicted on a community in the heat of political passion.

U.S. GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP.

The victory of Edward Ray in the American open golf championship will put heart of grace in British sportsmen the world over, for it shows that the skill which Old Country players have acquired in what has become one of the most popular of games for people of all ages is being well maintained. The British win will be in the best interests of international sport, and, we believe, sporting America will be ready to acknowledge this. Yesterday's decision of the championship was a case where Anno Domini did not triumph, for the handicap of years was all against the British entries. Golf, however, is a game where the utmost skill can be maintained into middle age and even beyond, as has been proved again and again by the famous professionals of the Old Land. What makes the victory all the more interesting is its close character, but it must be remembered that Edward Ray and Harry Vardon were playing on a foreign links and before an audience which could not have wished to see them victorious. The two veterans, who have earned, and richly earned, the title of the world's greatest exponents of the Royal and Ancient Game have again shown their prowess is undimmed. Only one stroke separated them in the championship, and while both were closely pressed by the young Americans who had done so excellently in the opening rounds the duo furnished the winner in Edward Ray.

Prohibition Food for Thought

Sir: When Mr. Peter Wright, the noted leader of the British Seamen's Union, passed through Victoria shortly after the Armistice, he spoke before the members of the Canadian Club at a luncheon at the Empress Hotel. In the course of his speech he stated that he would not call this period of transition "reconstruction," but rather "re-adjustment," and suggested that in our efforts of re-adjustment, we should study bygone empires and peoples, in order to learn from them what contributed to their rise and profit thereby, what caused their fall and avoid making similar mistakes. He mentioned the Empires of Babylon, Assyria, Greece and Rome as being worthy of study. Now all these are old empires, which had risen to great power and afterwards fallen, have practically disappeared. There is one empire or people which has lasted from almost the very first of the empires mentioned to the present day, and it is still intact and a homogeneous whole, from which we can learn a good deal: I refer to the Chinese Empire and people.

It is a pity that in our search for information and knowledge it has been the habit to confine ourselves only to those empires and peoples which are either in Europe or its immediate vicinity, and to ignore empires in Asia proper, which have outlasted any of those.

Now, in the Chinese Republic today there is an estimated population (taking the lowest) of at least four hundred millions. These people have been drinking spirituous liquors from time immemorial. The liquors they drink contain, according to evidence given by Government analysts in the local police court, from 60 per cent to 90 per cent proof spirits; and they drink it neat; yet you hardly ever see a Chinese drunkard appear in the police court, and drunkenness, as we know it, is practically unknown in China, outside the Treaty Ports. Why is it? The sobriety of the Chinese lies in their social system. When one Chinese in China meets another he does not invite him to have a drink of spirituous liquors, but to a drink of tea. Because there is no demand for it there is no such thing as a saloon or bar in the whole of China outside the white man's haunts. The Chinese only drink spirituous beverages with their meals, (principally evening meals) and then it is practically confined to men over their prime, or to those who have to undergo great physical efforts in earning their livelihood. The spirituous stimulants therefore are regarded by the Chinese more in the nature of a medicine (somewhat similar to our aged people taking Sanogen) than as a beverage. But there is no prohibition, and no need for such, and spirituous liquors are sold in the shops like any other merchandise without restrictions or regulations. A man going into a grocery store to buy his evening meal may also take home a bottle or two of liquor to drink with it.

So much for the Chinese example. Now we will look at another side.

Students of British history, enquiring into the rise of British power place this rise as commencing from the reign of Queen Elizabeth. Now, if I remember rightly, the Elizabethan period, right down to the early Victorian, was also the period of hard drinking, when it was said to have been the usual thing, on festive occasions, to drink each other under the table.

That the breed has not deteriorated on account of hard drinking, since, is proved by the boys who went to the front during the Great War, and certainly not by the Conchies who remained behind and who took away the very liberty for which the boys went to fight.

I think I have provided enough food for thought, for the present, to the prohibitionists and anti-prohibitionists; to the social reformers; and the missionaries to the Chinese; the smug Pharisees and the self-righteous Sadducees in our midst.

Later we will discuss wherein lies the difference in the two social systems which make some of the Occidentals drunkards and the Orientals sober men.

FIFTY YEARS AGO TODAY

(From The British Colonist of August 14, 1870)

Revolution in France.—On the 10th inst. an insurrection broke out in Paris. The Garde Nationale was called out and were ordered to fire on the people assembled there. The population then demanded the abdication and exile of the Emperor and his family, the removal of incompetent generals and a complete change in the form of government.

The Bavarian cavalry are pushing rapidly towards Paris and are taking prisoners of thousands of panic-stricken French soldiers. A great battle is commencing near Metz.

Tramway Destroyed.—Last night at 12 o'clock William Bailey's tramway, on Saanich Road, about one mile from town, was totally destroyed by fire, together with a large lot of hewn rails, tools and other property. Scarcely anything was saved. The loss is over $10,000, upon which there was an insurance of only $2,500.

Prospecting the Island.—Several parties of experienced prospectors are preparing to prospect and explore the Leech, Goldstream, Jordan and San Juan Rivers for gold and silver.

MOTHERS' PENSIONS

Local Advisory Boards for Nine Districts Named by Government—Investigating Claims

A number of the local Advisory Boards provided for by the Mothers' Pensions Act, passed at the last session of the Legislature, and which will act in an advisory capacity in co-operation with the Superintendent in charge of the work of investigating claims for pensions, have been named by the Provincial Government. The boards for nine districts were approved by order-in-council passed yesterday, as follows:

New Westminster — Mrs. Helen Douglas Smith, Mrs. Maud Mary Dorgan and Mrs. Christina Shanks Forrester.

Fernie—Mrs. Iva C. Wood, Mrs. Anna Duthie and Mrs. Louie Clara Workman.

Rossland — Mrs. Margaret Ann York, Mrs. Isabell Stephens and Mrs. Sarah Jane Pitt.

Nelson — Mrs. Elesa McCulloch, Mrs. Annie Edith Rutherford and Mrs. Marion Louise Create.

Trail — Mrs. Lillian McIntosh Thom, Mrs. Jessie Walker and Mrs. Tereza Martin.

Other boards for other districts will be named as soon as the personnel thereof is decided.

A silent, keyless clock, which contains only four wheels and no springs, has recently been patented.

LIQUOR SALES

July Totals Under Eight-Ounce Regulation Still in Excess of Those of Two Years Ago

Liquor to an aggregate value of $2,326.59 was sold by the Provincial Government liquor store here in July, compared with $18,997.03 in the same month last year, and with $1,499.40 in July of 1918. It will be seen from these figures that while the eight-ounce regulation, now in force has cut sales very materially, as compared with last year, yet sales during the past month was considerably in excess of those for July, 1918, when the old-time two-quart prescription limit was effective. The July sales of $2,326.59, compared with the June figures of $4,244.98.

In Vancouver July sales totalled $8,302.63, compared with $75,363 in July, 1919, and with $4,777.47 in 1918. In June of this year sales totalled $12,557.01, and in May, the last month of the old prescription limit, they were no less than $114,225.71.

Nanaimo's July sales were $84.70, compared with $383.10 in June, and $5,884.35 in May. In July, 1919, the total was $1,107.30.

Prince Rupert's July total was only $29.20, compared with the June sales of $988.87, and May's $3,188.87.

But the above figures do not give any indication of the amount of liquor being consumed. With facilities for importation again available there is not, judging from visible indications, any scarcity of wet goods with a kick in it.

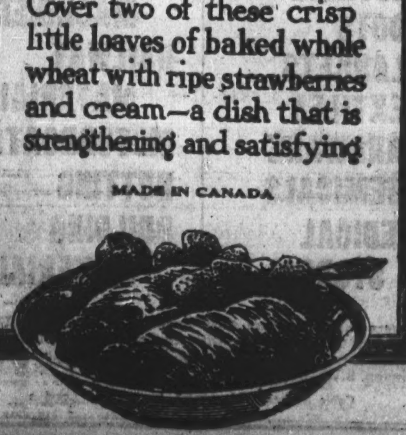
MADE IN CANADA



COAL QUESTION BEFORE BOARD OF COMMERCE

Combine Alleged in Statements Made Before Dominion Commission Which Held Short Session in Victoria

Under the chairmanship of the Chief Commissioner, Captain W. White, K.C., and in the presence of an audience of only about one dozen citizens, the Board of Commerce of Canada met yesterday morning in the Council Chamber of the City Hall, and was informed that the coal dealers of the city were formed into an association for the purpose of maintaining high coal prices, and that the coal supplies of the United Co-operative Society had been cut off by reason of pressure brought to bear on the coal operators by the local dealers. The Board also listened to the statements of Mr. Andrew Sheret, a wholesale plumber of this city, who said that he had found it impossible to buy certain of his supplies in Canada, owing to the opposition of the Vancouver jobbers.

Yesterday's session of the Board in this city was opened by Captain White, who explained the powers and methods of the Board, and introduced himself and colleagues to the citizens assembled. The latter comprised only a scant audience, not more than twenty persons, including the commissioners, being present during any part of the proceedings, which lasted upwards of two hours.

Captain White said that the Board consisted only of three commissioners for the whole of Canada. They were himself, the Chief Commissioner; Mr. F. A. Acland, Deputy Minister of Labor, and Major G. A. Dillon. Naturally, said the chairman, the fact that the duties of the Board were co-extensive, in their own particular department, with the whole Dominion, meant that it was difficult to visit all parts of the country and investigate the cases brought before them. The late Board, continued Captain White, had decided to visit the Pacific Coast, to inquire into the workings of the Combines and Fair Prices Act, from which Act the Board derived its authority. The late Board had been unable to make that visit. The present Board, however, was now in process of implementing that undertaking, and were now in Victoria, after visiting Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary and Vancouver. He would declare the meeting open for anyone who desired to bring anything coming within the purview of the Board's duties to its notice.

Alleged Jobbers' Combine

Mr. Andrew Sheret said he was a wholesale plumber of Victoria. He desired to bring to the notice of the commissioners the fact that a combine of jobbers existed in Vancouver, which made it impossible for him to purchase cast iron soil pipe in the Dominion. Mr. Sheret read a long correspondence with jobbers and manufacturers, in support of his complaint. He said that the jobbers of Canada were more powerful and wealthy than the manufacturers of the country. The jobbers were the body who set the retail prices of commodities, declared Mr. Sheret. They had the whip-hand of the manufacturers. He had now to go to the Old Country for certain of his essential supplies, or else beat about the bush to outwit the jobbers' association of Vancouver.

Mr. Sheret explained his essential complaint as being that until the jobbers of Vancouver recognized his status as a wholesaler of plumbing supplies he could be prevented from obtaining his goods from Canadian manufacturers. In answer to questions from the members of the Board, Mr. Sheret said that he was now solely in the wholesale business. He had given up doing any sort of retail business, he said; and all his troubles of this sort had been since he had engaged in the wholesale business. Mr. Sheret said that he was prevented from getting jobbers' prices in this city because the jobbers of Vancouver had brought pressure to bear on the Canadian manufacturers. He submitted a voluminous correspondence for the consideration of the Board in support of these contentions.

Captain White explained to Mr. Sheret the formal steps which he must take in order to bring his charges to the official notice of the Board. The Chief Commissioner promised that the Board would confer with Mr. Sheret with a view to facilitating the process. He also advised Mr. Sheret to obtain the services of a lawyer, in order that the legal requirements of the Combines and Fair Prices Act might be properly complied with.

Question of Coal

Mr. E. S. Woodward next addressed the Board. He said he was there as secretary of the Trades and Labor Council of the city, and also as a representative of the Soldier-Labor Council. At the last meetings of both these bodies the alleged existence of a combine of coal retailers in Victoria had been brought to their attention. The charge had been made by the United Co-operative Society that owing to the action of the retail coal dealers of the city the society had had its coal supplies cut off by the Granby Coal Company. Mr. Woodward said that he was credibly informed that the coal retailers here were exacting a net profit of $2.75 or $3 on every ton of coal sold in the city. These statements having been made to the bodies he represented, Mr. Woodward said that he thought they should be repeated and substantiated before the Board of Commerce.

Captain White having signified that the Board would be glad to hear representations in this sense, Mr. R. N. Ferguson addressed the Board. Mr. Ferguson said that he started in the coal business in Victoria last April. He soon found that he could not do as he wished. He was frequently called before certain members of the coal-dealing fraternity in the city and warned not to cut the retail prices of coal.

Later on, said Mr. Ferguson, with the consent of Mr. Quin, manager of the Granby Coal Company, from which company he had been receiving his supplies of coal, he had sold a half interest in his business to the United Co-operative Society. The local coal dealers had held meetings following that transfer, said Mr. Ferguson, and, as a result, the manager of the Granby Coal Company had informed him that he could not be supplied with any more coal. Mr. Ferguson said that Mr. Quin had admitted that this action had been taken as a result of pressure brought to bear by the local coal dealers. In answer to the questions of the Board, Mr. Ferguson said that the Co-operative Society had had its supplies of coal completely cut off.

Mr. Ferguson said that the Co-operative Society had never tried to cut the retail price of coal. That was an essential part of the agreement made with the Granby Coal Company when he had sold half of his business to the Co-operative Society. The market price of retail coal was set by the local Coal Dealers' Association, said Mr. Ferguson. Mr. Ferguson added the information that his own profits were less than those of the average coal dealer, because he had employed returned soldiers in his business, whereas most of the local dealers employed Chinamen.

Mr. Ferguson said that he used to pay $7.50 for a long ton of 2,240 pounds of coal at the pit head, which he retailed in Victoria for $12 a short ton of 2,000 pounds. He detailed the other costs of getting a ton of coal into the cellar of the Victoria consumer, and concluded that his average profit per ton had been $2.50. His experience had been that whenever the mining companies raised the price of coal at the pit head, the local coal dealers passed the raise on to the consumer, with a bit added.

Solicitor's Warning

Mr. J. S. Yates addressed the Board. Mr. Yates said that he was solicitor for the United Co-operative Society, and in that capacity had drawn the agreement between the society and Mr. Ferguson. It had been drawn with the consent of the manager of the Granby Coal Company. Pressure had been brought to bear, asserted Mr. Yates, and there had been no more coal for the co-operators. Mr. Yates said that there had been an almost incredible amount of wire-pulling in connection with this suppression of the Co-operative Society as a coal dealer.

Mr. Yates said that he desired to inform the Board that there was deep, if partly suppressed, indignation among the great general body of the citizens of Canada in this matter of the high cost of living. He said it was becoming more and more difficult for salaried people and wage-earners to live. The people were looking to the Board of Commerce for help in the work of reducing the cost of living. Mr. Yates was of opinion that it did not need propoganda from Russia to produce in Canada what was known as Bolshevism, if this sort of profiteering was permitted to continue.

Mr. Yates drew attention to the small attendance of the public at the hearing, and said it was attributable to the fact that the meeting had not been sufficiently advertised. He said there was no doubt that the people were vitally and intensely interested in this question, and they would have been present in numbers if they had known the board was to hold a local session. Mr. Yates continued that the returned soldiers of Canada had been taught by stern experiences overseas that eternal patience under this system of robbery might cease to be a virtue. He desired to inform the commissioners that trouble would surely come if these things were permitted by the Government to continue.

Mr. Yates drew the attention of the Board to the fact that at the present time there was an organized local propaganda in being with the object of preparing the public mind for another rise in the price of coal. He suggested that one thing the Government might do to check profiteering would be to enact that anyone having goods for sale, whether manufacturer, jobber, wholesaler or retailer, should pay a Government license fee. A condition of this license should be that the vendor of goods must sell to any person having money to buy them, and the penalty for failure in this respect should be the loss of the license.

The members of the Board individually remarked on their experience of the sort of propaganda referred to by Mr. Yates. They said they had come across it all over the Dominion during the course of their investigations. The chairman said that he did not know exactly when an investigation into the specific charges made by Victoria citizens yesterday would take place. The Board had to arrange the details of similar investigations all over the Dominion; but the gentlemen who had spoken should be notified of the arrangements of the Board.

Co-operative Co.'s Experience

The hearing came to a conclusion with some statements put forward by Captain Burgess Gadsden, a member of the G.W.V.A. Captain Gadsden said that he had a share in the United Co-operative Society, and had waited upon Mr. Joshua Kingham, a local coal dealer, in reference to the matters discussed with the Board by Messrs. Ferguson and Yates. Mr. A. C. Pike, president of the Trades and Labor Council, had also been present at the meeting. Captain Gadsden said that Mr. Kingham had been "brutally frank" as to the part the latter had played in shutting off the coal supply of the Co-operative Society.

Captain Gadsden asserted that Mr. Kingham had denied that the local coal merchants could bring pressure upon the coal operators, but, said the captain, there was no doubt at all that that pressure had been brought. Captain Gadsden also charged that Mr. Kingham had admitted his responsibility for terminating the former siding privileges on the Songhees Reserve granted to the Co-operative Society by the Provincial Government. Captain Gadsden charged that those privileges were terminated by the Provincial Government by means of the representations made to Premier Oliver by Mr. Kingham. Mr. Kingham was aggrieved that he had not been asked to supply coal to the Co-operative Society, declared Capt. Gadsden.

Captain Gadsden further asserted that Mr. Kingham had said he would sell coal below cost in Victoria before he would see his customers go over to the Co-operative Society. A desultory discussion of the local coal situation was precipitated by Mr. Woodward, who asked the Board if it had the power to require the coal operators to sell coal to any group of citizens who could charter a scow to bring coal from the mines to this city. Mr. Woodward said that it would be very easy to organize such groups in Victoria, but it would be futile to do so if the local coal dealers were permitted to bring such influence on the coal operators that supplies would be refused to such organizations.

Captain White said that a legal decision given in Ontario had rendered it doubtful if the Board had any power to come to the relief of co-operative societies in such cases as had been mentioned before them. He said that the decision had been based on Section 17 of the Combines and Fair Prices Act, which required all manufacturers, jobbers, wholesalers and others to sell their goods to such persons as they were accustomed to deal with. The decision of the Ontario court had been that co-operative societies did not come within that definition, and that, consequently, manufacturers and others could not be forced to sell to the co-operators. Mr. Woodward entered a decided objection to this interpretation of the act; and Mr. Yates said that if that was the actual intention of the act—which he doubted—it must have been drawn by the jobbers' association.

Captain White, in bringing the hearing to a close, said that arrangements would be made with the gentlemen who had addressed the Board with a view to further action and investigation. He added that no more hearings would be held on the Coast at the present time, but that the commissioners would come out to the Coast again if necessary. The members of the Board will be leaving the city either today or tomorrow.

COMRADES WILL NOT HOLD CONVENTION HERE

Postponement Announced of Gathering of Provincial Branches—Mainland Clubs Unreasonable

The convention scheduled to be held in the city yesterday by the Comrades of the Great War has been indefinitely postponed. An agreement could not be reached among the various branches regarding the representation, the Mainland institutions holding out for a three-membered delegation from each club, while the local Comrades, in view of the much larger membership here, insisted on a pro rata representation. Under the suggestion offered by the Vancouver and North Vancouver Associations there would have been three delegates from the Mainland to each one from the Island.

President MacNicol, of the Victoria organization, journeyed to Vancouver last week in an attempt to thresh the matter out satisfactorily, but apparently without success, as it is now announced that the convention is postponed indefinitely.

City and District in Brief

False Alarm—A false alarm from box 39, corner of Pandora Avenue and Davie Street, gave the fire department a needless run yesterday afternoon.

Basket Picnic Today—The United Scotch societies will hold their annual basket picnic today at Patricia Bay. Tallyhos will leave Caledonia Hall at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Hold Whist Drive—Officers and members of Primrose Lodge, Daughters of England, will welcome friends at one of the lodge's popular whist drives to be held on Thursday evening, August 19, at the Knights of Pythias Hall, North Park Street.

West Saanich W.I. Picnic—The annual basket picnic of the West Saanich Women's Institute will take place at Deep Bay on Wednesday, Aug. 25. Members' friends are cordially invited, and those wishing to go will kindly phone the secretary, Mrs. J. D. Murray, Brentwood Bay.

To Charter Vessel—The G.W.V.A. is experiencing difficulty in chartering a boat from the C.P.R. for the occasion of the Great War Veterans' sports at Vancouver next month. The matter has been taken up by Comrade Stone on behalf of the association, and every effort is being made to secure a vessel.

Victoria (B.C.) Shipowners, Ltd.—Shareholders in the Victoria (B.C.) Shipowners, Limited, are reminded that the final payment on their shares is due on the 14th inst., and should be paid as promptly as possible at the registered office of the company, 314 Pemberton Building, when certificates will be issued.

Lens Memorial Church—Mme. Bieller, whose husband is in charge of the French Department of the Presbyterian College in Montreal, is at the Coast with Dr. Bieller, and while here she will take up the question of a memorial church to be rected at Lens. Mme. Bieller is a daughter of the famous d'Aubignier, and is herself quite a personality, although her name is not so well known.

Special Meeting—A special meeting of the members of the Island Arts and Crafts Club will be held in the clubrooms, 202 Union Bank Building, on Tuesday, August 17, at 8:15 o'clock. The object of this meeting is to discuss a communication from the Arts and Industrial Institute of British Columbia regarding the establishment of a British Columbia Academy of Arts.

A Quiet Police Court—It was a quiet and very brief session of the City Police Court yesterday. Magistrate Jay was absent on a trip to Vancouver; and his chair was occupied by Mr. W. W. Northcott, J. P. There was one case of drunkenness, which was disposed of by way of a $5 fine. And there was the remanded case against the Cameron Lumber Company, which was further remanded for one week. That was all.

Church in a Theatre—Dominion Theatre on Yates Street will be used for some Sundays for church services, the congregation of the Metropolitan Church being so large that accommodation cannot be found for those attending. Scores were unable to gain admission last Sunday. The church is being redecorated and refurnished, and will be completed in the course of two weeks. When completed this church auditorium will no doubt be the finest in the city.

Held on Serious Charge—James Black, an elderly man, residing at 2315 Work Street, was arrested last night by Detectives Phipps and Sicilano on a warrant charging him with indecent assault. He will be arraigned in the Police Court this morning. Black is the man who of late has been parading the downtown streets bearing a sign aloft inscribed with Scriptural texts and making an appeal to the public to turn to the better life.

Pipeline on Point Ellice Bridge—The Streets Committee of the City Council yesterday authorized the laying of a four-inch pipeline under the sidewalk of the Point Ellice bridge in order to connect the tanks of the Consolidated Whaling Corporation with the tanks of the Canadian National Railway on the opposite side of the channel. An agreement is now being drawn up by City Solicitor H. S. Pringle, and the work will be proceeded with to the satisfaction of City Engineer F. M. Preston.

Plan Town Centre—Plans for a town centre were laid before the central committee of Saanich women's institutes at a meeting on Thursday afternoon at the Y.W.C.A. by Mrs. Watt. The idea is to establish rooms in the city that could be used for a number of purposes. They would serve members of Saanich institutes who were in the city, and could be utilized to exhibit Saanich products. Classes in household science, dressmaking, etc., could also be held there. The plan will be laid before the advisory board of the institutes.

Minister Plans Trip—Hon. William Sloan, Minister of Mines, will leave shortly on a trip of inspection to the North country, primarily with a view to looking over the mining camps at Stewart and along the Portland Canal, where mining activity is marked following the discoveries which were made in that section last year, and where great development is under way. The Minister visited that district last year. The importance of the development work being undertaken there led the department to undertake extensive work in the construction of roads and trails to open up mineral areas and assist in development, and the Minister will inspect the progress being made on that work when on his trip.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

A garden fete will be held on the afternoon of August 21 at Mrs. Jones-Evans', Douglas and Michigan Streets, and not today, as announced in the evening paper. The funds will be used for the benefit of the James Bay Troop of Boy Scouts. The Wolf Cub Pack will be presented with a totem pole at the fete. All those interested in the Boy Scouts are cordially invited to be present.

VICTORIA BOY SCOUTS

James Bay Rover Patrol.—Headquarters, Simcoe and Douglas Streets. Meet on Monday at 7:30 p.m. Assistant Scoutmaster Sykes in charge.

Any young man over seventeen years of age wishing to join this Patrol should apply on Monday evening.

James Bay Troop.—Headquarters as above. Meet on Thursday at 7:30. Assistant Scoutmaster Davie in charge.

There are a few vacancies for boys over twelve in this Troop. Apply at once before the Winter programme commences.

James Bay Wolf Cub Pack.—Headquarters as above. Meets on Fridays at 7 p.m. Cubmaster Fatt in charge.

This pack is being presented with its totem pole on Saturday, Aug. 21. The occasion is being made into a garden party and fete, which will be held at the grounds of Mrs. Jones-Evans, Michigan Street, from 3 till 6 p.m. All friends cordially invited.

Maclean Troup and Pack—Headquarters, Esquimalt Road. Scoutmasters, P. Trowsdale and A. MacArtir. Pack meets on Thursdays, 7 p.m. Troop meets on Fridays, 7:30 p.m.

The Cub officers had a very enjoyable week-end camp at Parson's Bridge, where they camped by kind invitation of Dr. Francis, who has been their host on previous camping trips.

The camp was strictly a business one, being held in order to give the Sixers and Seconds a thorough test in the work for the First Star. The camp was thoroughly enjoyed by all, bathing being indulged in morning and evening, and one of the Sixers learned to swim, following elementary instruction at Goldstream. The time was too limited to allow of elaborate cooking, but the flapjacks and porridge were pronounced O.K. by the S.M., who fancies himself as a critic.

Rover Scouts

The notice that the James Bay Troup has started a Rover Patrol is of considerable interest to Scouting circles in Victoria. The Rover idea, or rather what eventually became the Rovers, had been a dream of the leading Scout men of Great Britain for some years, but it was not until 1917 that the first scheme for the older boys, known as "Senior Scouts," made its appearance, and, after some experimenting, came into being as Rover Scouts in 1918. Since then their growth has kept pace with the rest of the movement. No less than eight editions of the Provisional Rover Rules have been published in two years, and Rover Troops and Patrols exist wherever scouting has become a permanent organization.

The age of Rover Scouts is from sixteen up, although in some instances a higher age is set, and many troops in the Old Country number ribbon-bedecked veterans of the late war in their ranks. Old Scouts of whatever age who would like to return to the movement, but hesitate about taking upon themselves the heavy responsibilities of officers, will find the Rover idea just what they require, while men who have not had Scouting experience, who would be willing to become officers for the sake of helping the boys, but do not like to do so without knowing more of the details, will find that a few months in the Rovers will be a most congenial method of gaining the necessary experience.

JAIL INMATE MAKES BREAK FOR LIBERTY

Walter Faucett, Serving Short Term for Vagrancy, Escapes From Police Station — Is Confirmed Drug User

Making a successful dash for liberty yesterday while he was acting in the capacity of "trusty" at police headquarters, Walter Faucett, sentenced last week to a two months' term on a charge of vagrancy, escaped from the police headquarters station yesterday morning about 9 o'clock.

He was engaged at the time in sweeping out the detective office under the surveillance of a member of the plain clothes staff. While the attention of the latter was diverted in attending to a report being made by an outsider, who called in to complain of a theft of which he was the victim, Faucett quietly tip-toed to the door leading out to the passageway running alongside the detective offices and in a flash he had opened the door and disappeared. He ran around the patrol house and across the market yard at the rear of the fire hall. Making his way through the fire station, he got out onto Pandora Avenue and made for the Douglas Hotel, which he entered. He was followed to the hotel but by the use of the fire escape he got down from the roof and made his getaway from the rear. Search all day for the fugitive failed to result in his recapture.

Faucett was arrested last week on a charge of vagrancy. He is a confirmed drug user and was in bad physical condition. For the past few days he has been plainly showing the effects of his inability to secure drugs and his dash for liberty is believed to have been the result of his determination to get out and secure cocaine.

Ordinarily, Faucett would ere this have been taken over to the Okhalla Prison Farm on the Mainland to serve his sentence, but as that institution is quarantined owing to the outbreak of smallpox there, no prisoners are being admitted, and it was found necessary to keep him here to serve his term.

CITY DECIDES TO BUY LUMBER FOR BRIDGE

Will Purchase Timbers at Dismantled Foundation Yards at Reduced Figure and Re-Sell to Contractors

As a preliminary step to the building of the Johnson Street bridge, the Streets Committee yesterday decided to recommend to the City Council that lumber be purchased at the Foundation Company's dismantled plant by the city for sale to the successful contractor when the tenders are accepted.

City Engineer F. M. Preston informed the committee that a considerable quantity of lumber for temporary work will be required in building the bridge, and he understood that lumber lying in the Foundation Company's yards could be purchased at prices ranging from $12 to $18 per thousand feet. He recommended that any lumber suitable be purchased by the city and resold to the successful contractor.

Among the other things done by the Streets Committee yesterday were the following:

1. Supported the contention of Mr. Preston that improvement of Lang Street, between Cook Street and Cedar Hill Road, be postponed owing to all macadam trail funds for the year having been spent. The work will cost $1,200, although an expenditure of $600 would meet the complaint.

2. Authorized building of a sidewalk along Highview Street at a cost of $60, but adopted the suggestion of Mr. Preston to postpone continuing the present trail here, owing to the steep grade and lack of appropriations.

3. Approved subdivision plan submitted by Mr. W. G. Gaunce in respect to property fronting on Collinson Street.

4. Approved a similar application from Crease & Crease respecting lot 8, Belton Avenue.

OBITUARY NOTICES

WRIGHT—The death occurred yesterday of Thomas Rutly Wright, of 515 Superior Street, after a long illness. The deceased was sixty-five years of age and was born in England, coming to Victoria nine years ago, and was a blacksmith by trade. VICTORIA PRESBYTERY IN SESSION NIGHT

Resignation of Pastor of St. Columba Referred to Regular Meeting—Call to Rev. J. Wood

A pro re nata meeting of Victoria Presbytery was held last night in St. Andrew's Church, Rev. Dr. Unsworth, moderator, presiding. There was a good attendance of members. The meeting was called to deal with the resignation of Rev. T. S. Baynes, St. Colomba Church, Victoria, and also with a call to Rev. James Hood, Cumberland, from Langley Fort and Murrayville in Westminster Presbytery. After discussion the communications from Rev. Mr. Baynes were referred to the regular meeting of the Presbytery on 31st inst., the congregation in the meantime being cited to appear.

The call to Rev. Mr. Hood was presented and reasons for acceptance were given by Rev. Mr. Campbell, Westminster Presbytery. The Cumberland congregation sent communication opposing the translation and testifying to the satisfaction given by Mr. Hood the past nine years. Mr. Hood, while gratified with the call, decided that his duty still lay in Cumberland and he was therefore unable to accept.

Streets Committee Approves of Sargent Plan to Relieve Taxpayers Under Ten-Year Plan

The proposal of Ald. W. J. Sargent, chairman of the Finance Committee, with respect to withholding certain properties from the October 6 tax sale, was yesterday afternoon ratified by the Streets Committee of the City Council, and will so be reported to the Council at its next regular meeting.

Ald. Sargent's plan, briefly, provides for withholding by the City Treasurer from the tax sale of all properties on which all the instalments under the ten-year relief plan have been paid up to date, together with all taxes accrued since 1918, except those of the present year.

COAL MINE OPERATORS HAVE NOT DECIDED

CLEVELAND, O., Aug. 13.—Bituminous coal operators' representatives of the Central competitive field tonight had not determined what their attitude would be toward re-opening the agreement made last Spring with the United Mine Workers of America on the basis of the award of President Wilson's coal commission, according to Cleveland members of the operators' committee.

President Wilson has requested that a joint meeting of the miners and operators' scale committees be held here tomorrow to consider making a new deal in wages for day or month laborers employed by the mines.

INTERURBAN TRAIN WRECKS FORD TRUCK

Mr. F. Verdier and Mr. J. E. Gilbert Were Badly Hurt in Collision Near Stelly's Station on Thursday Evening

Quite a serious accident occurred about 6:30 p. m., Thursday, on the Sannich interurban line, at Stelly's Station, when a Ford truck, driven by Mr. F. Verdier, of West Road, Keating, was run into by an interurban car, and smashed to pieces. With Mr. Verdier in the truck, was his brother-in-law, Mr. J. E. Gilbert, who was badly injured about the back, and he also received a nasty blow on the head.

Dr. Whitehouse, who resides at Stelly's, was quickly on the scene, and he attended to both gentlemen. Mr. Verdier also being badly injured about the back. It was found necessary to take Mr. Gilbert to St. Joseph's Hospital, while Mr. Verdier is laid up at his home.

Mr. Verdier, at the time of the accident, was driving on Stelly's cross road, approaching Stelly's station, and he was going very carefully, as a large stack of cordwood in front of the track prevented him from having a clear view of the line. Neither of the men heard any whistle from the interurban car, nor did they see the car until too late to avoid the subsequent crash. The truck was just about to cross the track when it was struck by the car. Both occupants of the truck were thrown out and they sustained the injuries mentioned.

The scene of the accident is said to be a very dangerous one, as on account of the pile of cordwood, a car approaching the station is invisible to anyone driving along the cross road, and numerous complaints have been made.

Mr. Gilbert is doing as well as can be expected at the hospital, but he will probably be obliged to remain there for a couple of weeks.

MOTORS COLLIDE ON MALAHAT HIGHWAY

American Visitors Meet With Mishap When Their Automobile Meets Truck—Car Was Badly Wrecked

An automobile accident occurred on the Malahat Drive about seventeen miles from Victoria, yesterday, when a car containing Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Johnson, of Yakima, Wash., and two friends, collided with a truck driven by Arthur Irvin, for Cliff Cameron. Mrs. Johnson sustained a badly-wrenched knee, and Mr. Johnson was bruised about the body, the other occupants of the car escaping with nothing worse than a bad shaking up.

Mr. Johnson, who was driving down to Victoria from Nanaimo, claims that Irvin was on the wrong side of the road. Irvin was trying to get up the hill at that point, and in order to do so, he kept to the wrong side, as he claimed that if he had kept to his proper side he would not have been able to make the grade. The consequence was that the truck struck the automobile, and wrecked it so badly that it had to be left at the side of the road.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson, with their friends, came on to Victoria, and reported the matter to the Provincial Police.

Mr. Johnson and party came across to Nanaimo from Vancouver, and they had intended to make a short tour before continuing their journey to Seattle.

VICTORIAN RETURNS FOR HIS HONEYMOON

Robert Knox, After Serving as Officer in United States Army, Brings Bride Back to Boyhood Home

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Knox have arrived at the Empress Hotel on their honeymoon trip through the Northwest. Mr. Knox spent his boyhood in Victoria, and is a brother of Mr. George W. Knox, of Weiler Bros., and of Rev. Father John D. Knox, of Vancouver. The bride was Miss Marietta Davis, of Holton. The wedding took place at the country home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jeptha H. Davis, on July 24. The bride's sister, Miss Helen Davis, was maid of honor and another sister, was bridesmaid. Mr. Charles Ffolliott, of Minneapolis, Minn., was best man, and the Rev. Albert V. Hart, of the Christian Church, officiated. The ceremony was witnessed by about fifty guests. Mr. Knox was a captain in the American army, and served during the war. Three of his brothers gave their lives in the late war, serving with the C.E.F.

WEDDINGS

Deaville-Macdonald

A pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Deaville, Manchester Road, on Wednesday, when the Rev. R. Wilkinson united in holy matrimony their eldest son, Walter Bailey Deaville and Miss Eva Macdonald, who was given away by Mr. Deaville, the groom's father. The ceremony was held under a beautiful arch, from which a marriage bell was hanging. The happy couple left for a tour around the Islands. Upon their return they will take up residence in the city.

Kyle—Hadfield

A quiet wedding took place on Tuesday, August 10, at Christ Church Cathedral, when Nellie Hadfield, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Hadfield, of this city, was united in marriage to Mr. John Kyle, A.R.C.A., of Victoria, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Kyle, of Harwich, Scotland. Miss Hilda Hadfield attended her sister, while Mr. Robert Kyle was groomsman. Mr. and Mrs. Kyle will reside in this city.

Ireland, and What America Ought to Know—England's Real Attitude

By Viscount Bryce in The London Times

It is of such supreme importance, not only to the United States and Great Britain, but also to the whole world, that the peoples of these two countries should understand one another's minds and views, that whoever is asked to join in trying to remove any cause of misunderstanding ought to respond to the request, according to the measure of such knowledge as he may possess. Being asked to point out such a cause, and believing that there is one which ought to be removed, I write these few lines that follow to state and do my best to explain it. That cause is to be found in the incorrect impressions which largely prevail in America regarding the present mind and purpose of the English people towards Ireland.

The fortunes of Ireland naturally and rightly excite a keen interest in America, so it might be supposed that the real facts of the case would be known there as regards both the internal conditions of Ireland and the attitude and will of England. But from what appears in the American newspapers I gather that these facts are misunderstood in one very important point, and it is to that point, and that point only, that the remarks I have now to make are directed. I shall not attempt to discuss the Irish question generally, nor the conduct of recent British Governments, nor the Sinn Fein movement. My sole object is to set forth shortly and clearly some material facts which, though patent to those who have followed the course of events during the last forty years, do not seem to be known to or duly appreciated by the mass of the American people, though of course known by those few who closely follow the course of events.

What is the general belief in America regarding the relations of the people of Great Brtain to the people of Ireland, and how far is that belief correct?

Two Pictures

England is constantly represented to the American people as the oppressor of Ireland. They are told to think of the English as a harsh and selfish nation, unfaithful to its own traditions of freedom, treating unhappy Ireland, of whose miseries it was the cause, with a cruelty such as Russia showed to Roland, and Austria used to show to Italy. The Irish people are represented as a practically united nation differing in race and religion from the English, cherishing memories of former greatness, and demanding with a single voice to be delivered from an alien yoke.

These two pictures were never true. Ireland, doubtless, did receive in former days much hard treatment from England, as indeed every country was in times past ill-treated by those who had conquered it. But for the last seven centuries Ireland has never been a united country against England, for there has been in Ireland a pro-English section, larger or smaller from time to time, but always important. The time when Ireland came nearest to speaking with one voice was in 1782—the time of the Irish Volunteers, when the Protestant and Anglo-Irish section of the nation—then as now a minority—received the sympathy of the then unenfranchised Roman Catholics in their successful demand for the abolition of an English authority in which Ireland was not represented.

It is nevertheless true, that although the Irish people were never united in antagonism to England, the English people as a whole did for more than sixty years after the Union of the Kingdoms in 1800 reject the demands put forward on behalf of the majority of the people by Daniel O'Connell and other Irish leaders down to Parnell for a measure of wide self-government. During these years the English insisted on treating Ireland as part of the United Kingdom, saying that as the Irish people, Protestants and Catholics (after 1829) alike, were represented in the British Parliament with an equal suffrage and a representation (in later years) in excess of the proportion of the population, they ought to be contented therewith. In this sense, then, although the Irish people were not united in their demand for self-government, there was an antagonism between the two islands, not merely because there were unredressed grievances (down to 1869 regarding the Church, and to 1881 regarding the land), but also because the English were practically united in their refusal to Ireland of the special treatment which many of her spokesmen demanded, and which most of us now think ought to have been given.

England and Home Rule

That state of things ended in 1886. That year was a turning point of vital significance in the relation of the two islands, and it is this significance which does not appear to be understood in America.

In 1886 Mr. Gladstone, convinced that the claim for Home Rule, which had at the election of 1885 received the support of a large majority of Irish voters, was a just claim and ought to be granted, induced his party to adopt the policy of Home Rule. Believing that both countries would fare better if self-government were granted to Ireland, because peace and good will would grow up between them, he brought in a Home Rule Bill, which, however, failed to pass. In 1893 he brought in a second Bill, which passed the House of Commons but was rejected in the House of Lords. His party continued to proclaim Home Rule as their deliberate and settled policy, and it was one of his greatest services to both countries that by that policy the opposition between the two peoples was brought to an end, because at least half of the English people and muc hmore than half of the Scottish people had taken their stand beside the majority of the Irish people in the demand for Home Rule.

In 1914 the then Liberal Prime Minister succeeded in passing a Home Rule Bill, which is now on the Statute Book. Its operation was postponed because at the very moment of its passing the war broke out, and it appeared impossible during the war to introduce some amendments which the Bill was felt to require. However, the fact remains that in 1914 a decision, never since reversed, was given by the British Parliament in favor of Home Rule. If the Act has not yet taken effect, it is for a reason which I must now explain.

A section of the Irish people, which is roughly estimated at one-fourth, has steadily objected to Home Rule, and that part of this section which dwells in the northeastern counties has declared that if Home Rule were imposed upon them they would resist it by force of arms. This section is mainly, but not entirely, Protestant—for in Ireland the dividing line between the advocates and opponents of Home Rule does not altogether correspond with distinctions either of race or of religion. There are plenty of Home Rule Protestants of English stock, and some anti-Home Rulers who are Catholic and of Celtic stock. Now it is the resistance of this one-fourth that has delayed the settlement of the Home Rule question. How far they are justified in their opposition, how far the British Government was justified in allowing itself to be alarmed by their threats of forcible resistance—upon these points, as upon the conduct of the British Government generally, I say nothing here, though I have often expressed my opinion in Parliament. It is always a difficult question to say (as America has found more than once) how far majorities have a right to coerce minorities, and to discuss that question much space would be needed.

The really important thing is that Americans should understand that the question of self-government for Ireland, whatever form it may take, is no longer a question between the two islands, as it was 50 years ago, but a question between two sections of the Irish people—one much larger than the other, but each embittered by the strife of the thirty-four years that have passed since 1886.

In England and Scotland bitterness over Home Rule has now quite disappeared, for the large majority, even of those who formerly opposed it as prejudicial to English interests, have now come to see that Home Rule is inevitable and ought to be conceded since it is the only path to peace. There are differences of opinion as to what form Home Rule should take, just as there are differences of opinion among the Irish majority, some of whom prefer a qualified measure of autonomy, while others go farther and desire the complete independence of Ireland. The essential thing is that Americans should now realize that the English people, taken as a whole, desires and intends to go as far as it can (short of an absolute separation of the two islands, and subject to whatever safeguards a regard for the minority may seem to require) to meet the wishes of the majority of the Irish people.

British Desire for a Settlement

The English have given ample proof of their good will towards Ireland by the sums of money which Parliament has voted for Irish purposes during the last 30 years, and by the large extent to which it has pledged its national credit in guaranteeing loans. The results of these grants and loans have been to make Ireland more prosperous, and the people better off than they have been for many centuries. Under the provisions of the Land Purchase Acts more than half of the tenant farmers have become, or are now becoming, owners of the land they occupy and cultivate, as the rest of these farmers will be when the process is complete. Those who, like myself, remember the state of the peasantry along the western and southern coasts sixty-five years ago, are struck by the contrast between the wretchedness of those days and the standard of comfort and health attained today.

Unfortunately, this change in English sentiment has not yet produced in Ireland the impression that might be desired. This is partly due to the fact that the performance of the promise of Home Rule has been, from various causes, so long delayed. I cannot here explain those causes, nor discuss how far they have justified postponement. All I wish to explain is that they are not due to any faltering in the purpose of the English people to fulfil their promise, embodied in the Act of 1914. But there is also another reason. Long as they have dwelt side by side the two peoples do not yet understand one another. The English, very few of whom know anything about Irish history, cannot see why the present generation of Irishmen should still bitterly resent the injuries inflicted on their forefathers, and should show such a passionate enthusiasm for the idea of a separate Irish nationality. Why not, they say, forget the past and let us shake hands and make a new departure? We are not the English of 100 years ago, we do not oppress you, and do not want to oppress you. We want to live as friends and partners.

Where the Trouble Lies

But the present Irish generation, still brooding over the wrongs of the past, does not realize that the English people have undergone a complete change of heart, and are now not only seeking to cure the practical evils brought to their knowledge, but heartily desire that complete reconcilement, which the grant of autonomy or some kind of Home Rule is needed to produce. In the Ireland of today, and in both sections of that Ireland, the memories of distant days of strife—memories of Aughrim and Limerick, of the Battle of the Boyne and the Siege of Derry, and the insurrection of 1798—still so possess and obsess men's minds that Nationalists and Sinn Feiners continue to think of England not as she is now, but as if she was still the oligarchical Government which ruled a century ago in times which the English to today have quite forgotten.

It is these memories of ancient strife that still embitter the two hostile sections of Ireland's inhabitants. If too little of Irish history is known or remembered in England, too much is known and remembered in Ireland. People there are still filled with recollections of wrongs done or suffered, and refuse to drink of the waters of forgetfulness, sometimes a healthful and necessary potion. It is not in Ireland only that such recollections are too vivid. All over Europe the passion of nationality is keeping alive angry memories which a wiser patriotism might allow to die away.

Here is the great difficulty with which England has to deal. Here is the cause which might produce that sanguinary civil war between the two hostile sections in Ireland which the English people seek to avert. If only a way could be found—as some day it must be found—of reconciling these hostile elements, a wide scheme of autonomy would be soon secured. The way seemed, on the verge of being found not many months ago, and many of us believe it can and will be found. Anyhow let me repeat once more that it is in the divisions within Ireland itself, not in any want of good will on England's part, that there lies the obstacle—and practically the only obstacle — which still delays that peaceful settlement which the British democracy sincerely desire.

the basis of a local improvement, on a ten-year serial bond plan. The Government will be assessed for its frontage on Esquimalt Road and the city will pay the remainder.

To Prepare Agreement.

City Solicitor, H. S. Pringle, will prepare a definite agreement embodying the terms specified and this will be signed by the Mayor and Dr. King within a few days.

Mayor Porter stated last night that it was the intention of the city to get the work started with as little delay as possible. The City Council is meeting members of the Provincial Cabinet next Thursday regarding other matters and the Esquimalt Road question will probably be discussed then, the Mayor said.

"If we can get an understanding from the Government that will enable us to go ahead in anticipation of formal ratification by the Legislature at its next session, we will lose no time in getting orders placed for the material," said the Mayor. In the event of this understanding being reached it will then depend on the banks as to whether the necessary loans are made prior to the passage of the necessary legislation.

City Engineer Preston estimates that the paving of the road will occupy about three months. Operations would probably be delayed a month or so because of difficulty in getting prompt delivery of materials.

DISEASE WILL TAKE MANY GERMAN LIVES

BERLIN, Aug. 13.—"I consider it inevitable that ten or fifteen millions of our people will die out, as we no longer can provide for them, because of the theft of our colonies, our merchant fleet and our possessions abroad, the destruction of our industries and the seizure of our natural resources," is the reply of Prof. Max von Grueber, noted hygienist, in refusing the request of his Munich colleagues that he sign an international appeal in behalf of German tubercular children.

Prof. von Grueber declares he finds it "incompatible with German honor" to appeal to the very nations who he charges "imposed the hunger blockade which undermined the vitality of the German people."

Bela Kun at Petrograd

LONDON, Aug. 13. — Bela Kun, former communist dictator of Hungary, has arrived at Petrograd, says a wireless from Moscow. He was sent to Russia by the Austrian authorities. While en route through Germany he escaped, but was recaptured.

Every Woman's Ambition For Rosy Cheeks Now Easily Satisfied

But rosy cheeks, clear skin, and bright eyes, give them to a woman and she is happy.

The woman who attracts, whose fresh, dainty complexion compels admiration, is always careful of her health, particularly of her blood condition. Bad complexion always means bad blood.

Girls, don't let your blood grow thin or watery. To do so brings on haggard looks and declining strength.

Many a woman who has allowed herself to run-down, to develop that tired, worried look has built up again in this simple way. Why don't you try it?

At the close of every meal, just take two small chocolate-coated Ferrosone Tablets—any person can do this in a minute. The action of Ferrosone is apparent at once. It sets you up, makes you feel good, starts up your appetite, aids digestion, brings that old-time feeling of youth into the system again.

Ferrosone puts you on the right road—the one leading to health.

Not a man, woman or child needing blood, vigor, endurance—not a person who is weak, nervous or sickly, not a person in all-health who won't receive immediate help from Ferrosone.

As a tonic and restorative, as a health-bringer and body-builder, Ferrosone is unrivalled. It cures because it feeds and nourishes because it contains the elements that build up and strengthen. For better looks and better health try Ferrosone yourself, sold everywhere, 50c per box, 6 boxes for $2.50, or by mail from The Catarrhosone Co., Kingston, Ont.

TYPOGRAPHICAL UNION CONVENTION CLOSES

ALBANY, N.Y., Aug. 13.—An unsuccessful attempt to bring the issue of the New York printers' "vacation" last Fall on the floor of the annual International Typographical Union convention marked the closing hours of the convention tonight.

The convention ratified the forty-four hour negotiations of the executive council and the United Typothetae of America at Chicago, whereby it was agreed that all publishers under the jurisdiction of the Typothetae and all printers under the jurisdiction of the International Typographical Union enter negotiations to establish the forty-four hour week without decreases in wages.

The old age pension limit was reduced to sixty years and a guarantee made of a pension of $8 a week to all printers reaching that age after twenty years of continuous service. The convention opposed granting cards to disabled veterans trained in Government printing schools.

Heat in Portland

PORTLAND, Ore., Aug. 13—Yesterday's heat record for Portland and vicinity was being approached at 2 o'clock this afternoon, when the official thermometer registered 94 degrees. This was two degrees less than the 2 o'clock figure yesterday, but the mercury appeared to be climbing, and the 98 degree mark of yesterday, it was thought, might be equalled.

Walks Far to Rejoin Family

CRIPPLE CREEK, Colo., Aug. 12.—Walking thirty miles over the mountains in a rainstorm when a washout halted his train on the Colorado Midland, William Ziensenhenne rejoined his wife and family today after eighteen years absence, during which Mrs. Ziensenhenne had remarried and been widowed by death. The man had suffered loss of memory for twelve years.

Country Without Orphanages

Orphan asylums are unknown in Australia. Destitute orphans are sent to private families and the Government makes an adequate allowance for the children's board until boys reach the age of fourteen and girls sixteen. Families assuming care of orphans have to pass a searching inquiry before entrusted with the responsibility, and government officials not only keep a watchful eye on the nation's dependents during the period of guardianship, but also see that they are given a start in life when they are old epough to go to work.—Sydney Bulletin.

DECAY OF COOKERY

From The London Times

Cookery in English restaurants, decadent for many years, is almost a lost art. The local dishes for which the provinces had a just fame are no longer offered; the hotels and restaurants of the cities have ceased to specialize. From one end of England to the other a uniformity of high prices, of careless service, and incompetent cooking prevails. We offer no proof of our allegation. He who demands it, either never visits restaurants or is served accoding to his merits. Many excuses—but all bad—have been suggested. There was a war and a scarcity of materials. Granted; but, to the artist, paucity of material is an opportunity, and may be an inspiration. The Spartan justice of the food control, it is pleaded, arranged distribution so that hotels and restaurants were sacrificed to the masses of the people. We do not believe it, partly because we doubt if the bureaucrats had a real knowledge of the raw materials over whose allotment they ruled, still more because the blight remains when there is no question of selective distribution. It is alleged that the new rich outbid public purveyors and absorb all the best ham, and meat, and vegetables. It would be good hearing that the greater spending power of these fortunate persons was exercised with discrimination, but the prices charged to customers at restaurants should give these a stout hold on any market. There is a cry that we suffer from the absence of foreigners, and that the English race, too proud to cook, must starve, like slave-making ants, self-deprived of their slaves by a gust of patriotism. The argument savors of propsgandist internationalism, and must be hurriedly passed by. The real explanation is unfortunately simple and presents little hope of change. The fate of many an individual restaurant has fallen on restaurants in the mass. A new establishment is opened, unpretentious and excellent. The whisper goes round, and the tables are crowded by the elect. The rumor grows and reaches those who are content to dine on the advice of others, until in the end of the modest home of art turns into a thronged palace of convention. The proprietor prefers riches to honor, and caters only for the ignorant. The dislocations of war, the difficulties of home life, and a wider distribution of money have prodigiously increased the restaurant habit in England, until those who know and care have been swamped by a multitude of customers who neither know nor care. The purveyors cater for the majority, and the majority get what contents them. And so cookery becomes a lost art in England.

ROYAL YACHT CLUB GAVE JOLLY DANCE

Clubhouse at Cadboro Bay Was the Scene of Pleasant Social Function Last Evening

The Royal Victoria Yacht Club, Cadboro Bay, was the scene of a most delightful dance last night. There were about forty couples present, and Heaton's orchestra gave just the added touch of gaiety to the already brilliant scene.

Both the rooms and the supper tables were charmingly decorated with flowers from the club gardens, the bright coloring of the carnations, dahlias and geraniums adding a pleasing not of color to the eye.

Among those present were Mrs. Charles Wilson, Mr. and Mrs Hotham, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Monk, Mr. and Mrs. Oats, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Nixon, Misses Dick, Smith, Ross, Rolf, Robertson, E. RAPID DEVELOPMENT AT NANOOSE MINE

NANAIMO, Aug. 13.—Twenty new dwellings for workmen will shortly be erected at Lantzville, formerly called Grants Mine. These edifices will be modern in every respect, comprising four living rooms, bathroom, concrete basement and hot and cold water. The output of the mine, which is operated by the Nanoose-Wellington Collieries Company, has more than doubled within a month. The output for June was 1,427 tons, and for July 3,079 tons, an increase of 1,652 tons.

BATTLE FOR BY-LAWS OPENS IN SAANICH

Members of Council Lay Facts Before Gathering at Cedar Hill—First of a Series of Meetings

A campaign of education with respect to the water and sewer by-laws, which go before the Saanich ratepayers on August 21, was opened last night with a meeting in the Parish Hall, Cedar Hill.

Reeve Watson and Councillors Terrell, Dooley and Clark, and Municipal Clerk Hector Cowper were on hand to make the provisions of the by-laws clear to the gathering, which was considerably augmented later in the evening through the arrival of those who had been attending a meeting of the Central Ratepayers' Association nearby. The water by-law was first considered.

Reeve Watson was the first speaker. He gave facts concerning the system.

A ratepayer asked if extensions were known to be wanted outside of Gordon Head. The Reeve assured the questioner that there were numerous applications for extensions being received. "If the by-law does not pass," he concluded, "I do not see where further extensions are coming from."

"You will get out every cent you put in. The system will pay large dividends," declared Councillor Terrell.

"Water is being sold in Saanich as high as fifteen cents a gallon," said Councillor Clark. "Water is badly needed in Saanich. This is practically a local improvement scheme. Those who are to receive the benefits will bear the cost." He claimed Gordon Head was quite capable of meeting the expense. The Ward Six ratepayers need have no fear that the Gordon Head people would not meet their obligations. The system would be self-supporting. The work would give employment to numerous residents of Saanich.

The Sewer Extension

The Reeve dealt with the sewer question in a second address. He pictured the condition in the thickly populated district where there is no sewer. The continuance of the use of septic tanks would bring about a condition of the soil which he, as Reeve, would not like to be responsible for.

Reeve Watson answered a number of arguments against the by-law. It was useless to say that the work had better wait until costs came down. Nothing like this could be expected for many, many years at least. He pointed to the wage increase in the last six years. Dealing with the argument that Saanich could not borrow without going to the States, he stated that the Provincial Government did not have to do this, and he thought Saanich's credit as good as that of the Province of British Columbia.

Reeve Watson thought it only fair that the ratepayers should know that the Government engineer who went over the sewer plans drawn up by the municipal engineer had stated in his report that he believed the estimates should have another twenty-five per cent added. The Council, in its wisdom, stated the reeve, had seen fit to trust in the Saanich engineer's figures. He was offering no comment but had thought it only right that he should make the statement.

Plea for Sewers

Councillor Dooley made plea for the sewer by-law, pointing a sorry picture of Ward Seven conditions. He dwelt on the labor situation, and prophesied even window breaking as likely unless work was provided.

The meeting having been thrown open, Mr. H. E. Tanner, of Ward Six, expressed strong views against the by-laws, the conclusion of his speech bringing the most applause of the evening.

Mr. Tanner stated that the councillors were evidently lukewarm in their support. He objected to the credit of the rural wards being pledged to improvements to inner wards. He believed that when wards adjacent to the city demanded urban luxuries they should become part of the city. He painted a blue ruin picture of the situation among the farmers, and claimed that a more equable system of taxation should be instituted.

The cost of labor and material was now at the peak, said Mr. Tanner. There was greater need of economy now than during the war. The sewer by-law was a confiscatory measure. The average person would not be able to stand it. Ward Six, Mr. Tanner concluded, would oppose these by-laws on principle.

As to Confiscation

Reeve Watson assured Mr. Tanner that the property within the districts to be affected by the by-laws would be confiscated before the other parts of the municipality had to pay.

Councillor Clark stated that the authority asked for in the sewer by-law was more than he cared to support. It would impose rather too heavy a burden on the people within the sewer district. He thought the council should have given the matter more consideration.

Reeve Watson, speaking again, said he could see difficulties. He had no wish to foist sewers on the people. Let those who would have to pay express their feelings at the polls.

School Trustee Holloway wanted a taxation readjustment before the by-laws were voted on.

Meetings will be held throughout the municipality to consider the by-laws. There will be one at Tolmie school tonight.

NANAIMO NEWS NOTES

NANAIMO, Aug. 13.—The annual picnic of the J. H. Malpass and the Malpass and Wilson's staff was held Wednesday afternoon and evening, at the farm of Mr. Malpass, sr., Nanaimo River. Football matches, games for the young and the old, and dancing were the attractions of the day, and heartily enjoyed by all.

South Wellington is preparing for a great demonstration on Labor Day. Sports of all kinds, with a grand tug-of-war and a baby show are some of the attractive features promised to visitors.

Nanaimo tennis players scored 174 points in a well-contested match at Chemainus Wednesday, against 126 by Chemainus.

ANTI-FRILLS HAVE CHOSEN CANDIDATE

Central Ratepayers' Association of Saanich Places Mr. Clarence Oldfield in Field Against Mr. D. S. Tait

The second candidate for the position of school trustee, on the Saanich School Board, is in the field. The Central Ratepayers' Association, avowed enemy of "frills" and advocate of greater efficiency and less extravagance in Saanich school matters, met in the Temperance Hall, Cedar Hill, last night and named Mr. Clarence Oldfield to represent its case at the polls on Saturday next. The "frill" supporters have already named Mr. D. S. Tait as their candidate.

Mr. Oldfield was chosen only after a large number of other men had been approached and refused to stand. He is the son of Mr. J. H. Oldfield, of "Norfolk Lodge," Elk Lake, and is a director of both the Saanich Fruit Growers' Association and the Saanich Farmers' Co-operative Association.

The supporters of Mr. Oldfield are in no wise restricting themselves to the matter of "frills," but have enlarged their platform to include a revision of the whole school policy with a view to greater efficiency and less extravagance.

School matters will be debated at the meetings being held throughout the Municipality to consider the two by-laws which are to be voted on next Saturday at the same time as the polling for trustee. At the first of these gatherings at Cedar Hill last night Reeve Watson stated that he was quite in favor of this. No discussion of school affairs took place at last night's meeting of ratepayers which was in progress close by that of the Central Ratepayers' Association, but the first debate in the trustee fight is expected at the Tolmie School tonight.

The "frill" supporters are holding a meeting on Wednesday evening in the Tolmie School, Mr. R. E. Collis in the chair, to discuss school matters. The Saanich ratepayers are invited to attend, regardless of their views. The opposition candidate will be asked to speak. Mr. Tait will address the gathering. Mr. George McGregor, former reeve of Saanich, is slated to give the main address of the evening.

The supporters of manual training, domestic science, and school gardening, have taken objection to the use of the word "frills" in connection with these subjects, and have chosen as their slogan, "Not frills—but necessities."

ly adopted, the Cameron Lumber Company would hire a fleet of trucks to provide efficient delivery, Mr. Cameron said.

Oppose Nuisance By-law

Mr. Cameron and Mr. P. E. McCarter, of the McCarter Shingle Mill, spoke in opposition to the Smoke Nuisance By-law, under which the Canadian Puget Sound Lumber & Timber Company was recently prosecuted and fined $20 for operating a refuse burner claimed to be a menace to the health and safety of the community. Both held that the sawmills could not operate at all without violating the by-law, and they urged that it be amended.

Mr. Cameron presented a petition protesting against the by-law, signed by 719 firms in Victoria's business district, 527 white employees of the mills and 149 residents in the factory district.

"Experts have told us that it is virtually impossible to construct a really efficient burner," said Mr. Cameron. "We have done our best to eliminate the nuisance and we are prepared to pay big money for apparatus that will prove effective. We claim that the Council has no business enforcing a by-law like this against the mills when it can suggest no remedy for present conditions."

Mr. D. B. Plunkett, a resident of the mill district, said the people were not complaining of the smoke nuisance, but of the spread of cinders and charred sawdust. He said that people living in the Craigdarroch James Bay and Fairfield districts had signed the petition—some of them under duress—and he challenged the right of people in these localities to express an opinion as to the conditions under which Rock Bay residents should live. Mr. Plunkett said it was not the city's duty to provide a remedy; that was the business of the mills, and he told of the spread of cinders from the mills throughout the Rock Bay section.

"A Threat and a Fraud"

Mr. Sam Greenhalgh said that the petition was a threat and a fraud, and he was there to call the bluff of the sawmill interests. He produced a burnt doormat and pieces of charred shavings as evidence of the effect of the spread of effluvia.

"In three days," said one of the anti-smoke delegates, "I could get a petition signed that would hang every sawmill man in the district."

Mr. Beaumont Boggs, representing tenants in the mill district, protested against the blowing of mill whistles at 6 o'clock in the morning. He said it annoyed people who didn't want to wake up that early. If the Chinese employed needed an alarm of some kind, they could buy clocks, said Mr. Boggs.

"You people needn't worry any more," said Mr. Cameron. "Orders go out today that no whistle will be blown at 6 o'clock in future at our plant."

"Not Health Menace"

Mr. McCarter, answering the protest against the mills on the grounds that the smoke was injurious to children, said he had lived in the thick of it for twenty-three years and he challenged anyone to find a healthier man than himself.

Mr. Cameron denied that the petition was a threat. "We said nothing about closing the mills when the petition was circulated," he said. "If the mills were subject to prosecution every day they operated, however, there naturally would be only one alternative."

"They tell us that we put forward the claim during the war that we were helping the Allies and should not be harrassed by the by-law," said Mr. Cameron. "We did help in the war. We produced more ammunition boxes than all the other Canadian sawmills put together, and that is a record to be proud of."

The petition will be presented to the City Council at its next meeting.

Ald. Johns was the only member of the Council who expressed himself on the smoke issue yesterday. He took the same stand that he has assumed previously, charging that the mills had not done all they should do to abate the nuisance. He indicated that he would oppose modification or repeal of the Smoke Nuisance By-Law. The attitude of other aldermen is still a mystery.

Y.M.C.A. GALA IS SET FOR SEPTEMBER 4

Boys Will Compete at Gorge—Feature Is Native Sons' Cup, for Best Score in Some Events

Saturday, September 4, has been set as the date for the Y.M.C.A. swimming gala, at the Gorge, for the boys of the city. This is said to be the first affair of the sort held at the Gorge by the local association. It is being arranged by Mr. Harold Cross, boys' work secretary, and the events are open, not only to members, but to all Victoria boys. The Elks clubhouse has been secured for the occasion, and the races will commence at three o'clock in the afternoon.

The feature of the gala is to be the Native Sons' Cup contest. This trophy is a permanent challenge cup, which will be competed for each year, and goes to the boy who makes the greatest total of points in the following events: 50 yards, 200 yards, plunge for distance, and diving.

The Programme

Boys under 18th birthday: 50 yards, 200 yards, plunge for distance, diving. Medals in each event, and highest score wins. Native Sons championship cup and medal.

Boys under 15th birthday: 50 yards, native sons only; 25 yards for beginners who have learned to swim this Summer; 50 yards on back; diving.

Boys under 13th birthday: 25 yards; 100 yards.

Pillow fight.

Girls under 15th birthday: 50 yards.

Australia is 28 times the size of the British Isles.

Swimmers and Divers Ready for Big Event of Year to Be Staged at Curtis Point This Afternoon by Victoria and Island Athletic Association

Superintendent W. H. Davies and his fellow workers on the committees of the V. I. A. A. were busy yesterday putting the finishing touches to their labors of preparation for the swimming, diving and water polo championships of the Pacific Northwest which will be decided at the club's quarters at Curtis Point below the Gorge this afternoon.

A long programme is down for decision, and there is a numerous list of entries. Victoria will have hard work to take the premier honors of the meet, but the local swimmers and divers have been working hard this season and practising faithfully in order to be in the best possible shape for the big meet this afternoon, which will decide who are the champions in the various classes for another year.

An especially strong effort will be made this year to capture the water polo trophy, and the locals are feeling very confident of their ability this time to lower the colors of the experts from Portland. The ladies have an especially strong contingent, and there is little doubt that they will worthily uphold the honor of Victoria in her home waters.

The first event is billed to start at 2:30, and it is expected that the long programme will not be finished until well on in the evening. The following list of entries, long as it is, is incomplete in so far as the entries from Portland are not shown in it. Portland is sending ten entrants, but their entry forms have gone astray, so could not be listed. They will, however, be entering all the events on the programme.

The entry list and list of officials in charge of the gala follows:

MAPLE BAY ENJOYS FINE AQUATIC MEET

Large Crowd Has Good Time Watching and Competing in the Rowing and Swimming Events.

DUNCAN, Aug. 13.—Tanned, sunburned and happy, the throng that attended the water sports yesterday afternoon held under the auspices of the Maple Bay Aquatic Club acclaimed the afternoon's amusement the best yet.

All afternoon the beach held a large crowd of interested spectators, small water craft of every description dotted the waters of the bay, and lent a festive air to the scene, while in all events there was a good showing of participants.

Everyone appeared in good spirits, the energetic committee in charge had the affair so well in hand that all events were run off smoothly and without any long intermissions. Perhaps the race that brought forth the greatest amusement was the obstacle race, which was run off in three heats, with three in a heat. The clubhouse float was used as the starting point, the contestants then had to swim to the wharf, climb a rope ladder, run across, dive overboard, swim to a raft, where they had to dive under a log, come up, climb over a scantling, dive under a log, swim to raft, there don trousers, coat and large hat and swim back to the Government float and land with their attire complete.

The committee in charge of the sports were: C. H. Dickie, hon. president; H. F. Prevost, president of the club; chairman, Major Rice, vice-president; Thomas Pitt, Mayor of Duncan; Capt. C. G. D. Sprot, George W. Mutter, L. C. Springett, J. E. Stillwell, M. M. White, D. C. Hills, A. Peterson, secretary-treasurer; judges, Major Rice, T. A. Wood, C. H. Dickie; handicappers, Messrs. C. H. Dickie, T. Pitt and T. A. Wood; timekeeper, Mr. Kenneth Duncan, M.P.P.; while Messrs. Wm. M. Dwyer and Mr. Wm. Stacey lent most valuable aid in carrying out the swimming events.

The Prize List

The prize list of the sports follows:

YAKIMA PITCHERS ARE GIVEN BAD BEATING

Wolfram and Hill Are Wild and Ineffective, and Russell James Wins, 14 to 3—Victoria Batters Merciless

What Victoria's sluggers didn't do to Yakima's pitchers yesterday, and what the Yakima pitchers didn't do to a few of Victoria's batters in return, wouldn't be worth the telling. The general result of the battle, however, was an overwhelming victory for Leard's warriors, the final count being 14 to 3.

The Victorians came back with a vengeance after Thursday's slaughter and pounded Wolfram, Tealy's leading hurler, mercilessly; in fact, chased him out of the mound before he had completed two innings. Then they hit young Hill, who relieved him, just about as frequently, and while they hammered out the hits youthful Russell James twirled a great game of ball. After the first inning, when he let three hits get across for a couple of runs, he was never in trouble. He played a nice all-round game, handling six fielding chances without a slip, and contributing two hits at opportune moments as well.

Both Wolfram and Hill were as wild as they make them. In one and a third innings Wolfram walked two men and sent in two wild pitches. Hill, after several innings of experience, discovered that the only record he was likely to break was hitting batters, so he went out after it. He hit three batters in a single inning and walked five men during his eventful stay in the box. He was so erratic that big Grover Land, after being nearly beaned once, strode to the plate the next time wearing his chest protector and shin pads. "Toots" Brown turned a back somersault trying to avoid one of Hill's shoots that whizzed toward his head.

Eight Runs in One Frame

Yakima gathered in two runs in the first frame, but that was the only time Raymond's men had a chance to smile. In the second inning the Victorians piled up a lead that was sufficient to make James feel as safe as the Rocky Mountains and, full of confidence, Russell went along for the rest of the game without a single worry. With one down, Dempsey landed on the ball for three bases, and scored on a wild pitch. Zienke walked and went to third on Land's Texas leaguer to right. James scored Zienke with a single, and Land rolled home when Elliott's grounder hurtled through Gorman's legs to the outfield. Church knocked down a two-bagger to centre, scoring James, and went to third base on a wild pitch. Leard brought him home with a single, although the decision at the plate was a close one. Wolfram was yanked after this happened, and Hill was called to the rescue. The second ball that Hill served up to Brown was straightened out for a home run. Dempsey followed with a two-bagger, but Zienke fanned for the third out, and the damage was done.

Lafayette picked out one of James' offerings in the fourth and made it good for four bases, but it was the last time Yakima scored. Three singles and a base on balls helped Victoria to its ninth run in the third, and Dempsey brought in the tenth with a four-base wallop in the sixth. It was in the seventh that the silent young man Hill performed the wild man stunt that entitled him to a separate tent at a circus. Elliott opened the offensive with a neat two-bagger. Church was hit by a pitched ball. Leard was hit by a pitched ball, and after Brown had scored three with a double to deep centre, Carman was hit by a pitched ball, too. Dempsey was safe on a Texas leaguer. Zienke flew out, and Land grounded out to Lillie, Brown scoring on the play. Hill walked two men in the eighth, but no further scoring was done.

Dempsey and Leard Stars

Lee Dempsey and Bill Leard were yesterday's outstanding stars, the former with the stick, and the latter in the field. Dempsey made five trips to the plate and he got a home run, a three-bagger, a double and a single. Leard handled two putouts and eight assists and didn't make a single fumble. He started two double plays as well.

Charlie Gorman was the only man with a perfect batting record. He made only two appearances at the plate and got a hit each time, but he was replaced in the fifth inning by Tealy Raymond because of a wrenched ankle.

Today's game starts at 2 o'clock. Harry Morton will probably do mound duty for Victoria, and he will be opposed by Valencia, the left-hander. These two pitchers engaged in a pretty battle Tuesday afternoon, Morton winning, 1 to 0.

Yesterday's box score follows:

ALL IN READINESS FOR GRAND OPENING

Olympiad Will Be Opened by King Albert—Cardinal Mercier Will Celebrate Mass in Memory of Fallen Athletes

ANTWERP, Aug. 13.—All was in readiness tonight for the opening of the Olympic stadium tomorrow. A number of athletes from each of the competing nations took part in a dress rehearsal this afternoon for the parade which is to be the principal feature of the ceremony.

Before opening the stadium, Cardinal Mercier will celebrate mass in memory of the athletes of Allied nations who fell on the field of battle in the Great War.

King Albert, Queen Elizabeth and the other members of the Royal Family and Cardinal Mercier will be in the royal box at the stadium. The cardinal will deliver an allocution. Then the King will declare the Olympiad open with cannon booming and homing pigeons flying from the arena. There will be a chorus of Belgian and Swedish singers.

VALUABLE TROPHIES NOW ADORN WALLS

G.W.V.A. Are Donated Several Splendid Moose and Cariboo Heads by Wellwishers

Several handsome moose and cariboo heads mounted on shields, loaned to the association by friends of Comrade W. J. Scott, now adorn the walls of the G. W. V. A. building on Fort Street. The heads, which are all in perfect condition, are of an average weight of 180 pounds and are valued at a figure approaching $1,000. Two have been placed in the rotunda of the club, a second pair in the meeting hall, while the fifth lords it over the heads of those satisfying the inner man. The cariboo specimens with their ten prongs apparently roamed the woods for a decade before being shot, and the moose for a much longer period, judging from their wide-spreading antlers.

The association has indeed been fortunate in securing the loan of these valuable trophies, the generosity of the donors including the mounting of them on the walls free of charge.

Another recent gift to the organization is a large circular seat, beautifully upholstered in red Russian leather. This, together with the antlered monarchs, adds greatly to the appearance of the rotunda. The manager states that all that is now lacking is a plant or two completely to adorn the vestibule.

JOHNSTON TO MEET GRIFFIN TODAY IN FINALS AT NEWPORT

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 13.—R. Norris Williams, II and Richard Harte furnished the big surprise of the Casino Lawn Tennis tournament today by defeating W. Johnston, national champion, and C. J. Griffin in the final of the doubles. The match went five sets, the scores being 6-2, 3-6, 7-5, 2-6, 6-3.

Johnston will meet Griffin in the finals of the singles tomorrow as result of their victories today over Willis Davis and Roland Roberts, respectively.

PHYSICAL DIRECTOR LEAVES Y. M. C. A.

Mr. W. A. Alldritt Accepts Position With Winnipeg Association—Mr. Walter Maguire, of Brandon, to Replace Him

Mr. W. A. Alldritt, who has been physical director of the local Y. M. C. A. for the past year, is leaving next Wednesday to join the Winnipeg Association. Mr. Alldritt has done good work during his twelve months here, having built up the physical department from a state of stagnation due to the lack of a director. He received most of his training in the Winnipeg Y. M. C. A. and that body therefore feels that it has in a measure, a claim upon him.

Mr. Alldritt's place will be taken by Mr. Walter A. Maguire, who is at present with the Brandon Association, and who worked with the Sherbrooke Association and northern branch of the Montreal Y. M. C. A. before taking his present position.

Mr. Harold Cross, Boys' Work Secretary here, worked for three years with Mr. Maguire in the Montreal organization, and is looking forward to further association with him. Mr. Maguire will be assisted by Mr. Neville Goff, a Victoria boy, who is joining the association as assistant physical director and membership secretary.

GRAND CIRCUIT RACING

Another Record Broken by Juno in 2:08 Pace—Rain Curtails Programme

NORTH RANDALL, Cleveland, Aug. 13.—Rain late today caused postponement of the Grand Circuit racing after three races had been decided and Juno had won two of three heats in the Leader purse, $3,000, for 2:07 pacers. Third heat is to be raced to decide money division.

The rain came after Favonian had won the second and deciding heat of the News Sweepstakes purse of $2,350 for two-year-old trotters. Best time, 2:10½.

Another record went by the board today when Juno, in stepping the first mile of the 2:08 pace in 2:02¾, set a record for the stake. Juno came from behind in both heats. In the second heat practically every entry took a turn at setting the pace. Foxy Ann, Red Lancelot and Calgary Earl went into the breaks, but Red Lancelot, favorite, came with a rush in the stretch and landed third.

Both divisions of the 2:14 pace were postponed until tomorrow.

Eight races will be decided tomorrow.

Uhlen Brook won the first division 2:15 class trotting. Best time, 2:08¾. Van H. won the second division honors in the 2:15 class trot with best time of 2:08¾.

Ted Ray Is Winner Of U. S. Golf Title

Harry Vardon Looked to Have Championship Clinched Once More, But Weakened on Last Nine and Finished One Behind, Tied With Diegel; Hutchinson and Burke

TOLEDO, Aug. 13.—Edward Ray, of England, today won the National Open Golf championship of America at Inverness, with a score of 295 for 72 holes, carrying the cup to England for the second time, Harry Vardon having won the title twenty years ago and lacking only two strokes of capturing it again today. It was only by a stroke that the long-driving Briton snatched the honor, three young Americans, Leo Diegel and Jock Hutchison, of Chicago, and Jack Burke, of St. Paul, missing long putts by inches, to tie the score of the winner, who also outstripped his countryman, Vardon, by a single stroke.

Vardon seemed to have the title clinched nearly all day, starting slightly behind this morning and leading by a stroke at the end of the first 18 holes with 218, while Diegel and Hutchinson had 219 and Ray 229. Vardon increased his chances by scoring 36, one over par, on the first nine of the last round, but he began to miss his shots both from the tee and on the green, taking six on the 522 yard twelfth and the 450 yard seventeenth and three fives for a 42 on the final lap.

Exciting Finish

Ray showed fatigue on the last nine, but his 40 was offset by a par 35 on the first half. When he finished, Vardon was already in with 296, tying the score returned by Burke, and the enormous gallery was on tiptoes to see whether the finish of Diegel or Hutchinson could hold the title in America. Diegel was first to finish after Ray, and he needed three on the last hole to tie the Briton's score. The young professional drove 235 yards down the center of the fairway and crisply pitched a well-cut approach hole high but 18 feet to the right of the flag.

EDWARD RAY
the British golf professional, who yesterday captured the American open championship, leading Harry Vardon by one stroke.

He played the putt well and it grazed the edge of the cup but refused to drop. Hutchinson came to the last tee confronting the same problem, his partner Hagen having run up a score that all but crowded him out of the money. The Western open champion drove well and laid his approach in almost the same spot as Diegel, and despite a careful effort his putt failed by a hair to tie Ray's score.

Ray said he had expected to win from the Americans, but had not felt he would outplay Vardon.

He accepted the cup emblematic of the title with brief words of thanks, and the trophy will repose at Oxey Club, England, until someone else wins it.

CLASSIC BIKE RACE IS WON BY FRANCE

Olympic Stadium Will Be Formally Opened Tomorrow—American Athlete Disgraced by Committee

ANTWERP, Aug. 13.—France won the 170 kilometre road race, the Olympic bicycle classic, here yesterday, Sweden second, Belgium third, and Denmark fourth. The order of the teams' standing was determined by the times made by the four competitors of each country in the race.

Stenguist, of Sweden, made the best individual time, 289 minutes 1 4-5 seconds.

Dress rehearsals for tomorrow's opening of the great Olympic Stadium were held today.

When the games open Sunday, the various countries will start off with the following points already in their favor:

United States, 57; Norway, 56; Sweden, 39; Britain, 20; Holland, 18; Belgium, 13; France, 10; Finland, 7; Denmark, 7; Brazil, 6; South Africa, 6; Switzerland, 5; Canada, 3; Italy, 3; Spain, 3; Greece, 2; Czecho-Slovakia, 1.

Each nation will start four men in each event, and points will be awarded under the system of the International Athletic Federation, which gives to the winner 7 points, to the second 5, to the third 4, fourth 3, fifth 2, and sixth 1.

Ahearn Disciplined

Dan Ahearn, of the Illinois Athletic Club, world's record holder for the hop, step and jump, has been dismissed from the American Olympic team on charges of insubordination.

Team Brings Pressure

ANTWERP, Aug. 13. — American Olympic athletes at a mass meeting tonight virtually forced the American Olympic committee to reconsider the case of Dan Ahearn, the hop, step and jump champion, with the athletes' committee. Ahearn was dismissed from the team today by the American committee for alleged insubordination.

SHAMROCKS MAY PLAY WITH SALMONBELLIES

MONTREAL, Aug. 13.—There is a possibility of the Shamrock lacrosse team going West to play for the Minto Cup.

Last evening a wire was received from the directors of the Exposition Company at New Westminster asking that the champions of the National Lacrosse Union play two games with New Westminster on September 27 and October 2, the week of the exposition. A wire was sent West and further particulars are demanded.

BIG SCORES MADE IN COUNTY CRICKET

LONDON, Aug. 13.—The cricket championship matches today were notable for big individual scores. Hendren's 232 for Middlesex against Notts at Lords, enabled his side to declare their first innings closed at 485, with only eight men out. Notts had made 278 and in the second innings scored 203. Middlesex won by nine wickets. Essex, playing Hampshire at Bournemouth, led off with 318, including 168 by Russell. The home side easily passed this total, making 492, Brown alone contributing 220. Essex second innings realized 252 for seven wickets, and the match was drawn.

Derbyshire and Leicestershire at Derby. Surrey and Lancashire at Manchester and Sussex at Leeds were all much delayed by rain. Leicestershire defeated Derbyshire by an innings and 14 runs, the losers making only 55 runs in the second innings. Sussex just managed to draw with Yorkshire, being saved from defeat by time. Surrey won by 221 runs, the scores being: Surrey, 183 and 274; Lancashire, 37 and 129.

VANCOUVER PLAYERS BEATEN IN FINALS

Winnipeg Pair Win Dominion Tennis Doubles on Their Home Court—Rennie and Bennett Meet In Singles

WINNIPEG, Aug. 13.—Two finals were decided in the Dominion lawn tennis championship tournament here today, Winnipeg and Toronto each carrying off an event. Bennett and Lesitikow, the local pair, are the new doubles champions in virtue of a signal victory over Milne and Rhodes, the Vancouver players, in a strenuously contested match, which went four sets before a decision was arrived at. The Coast players won the first 9-6, but lost the last three, 6-2, 6-3, 6-2, the visitors seeming to fade badly at the close, due to the excessive heat.

Miss Best and Mrs. Bickle, the Toronto lady stars, won the ladies' doubles rather easily from Miss Stinsen and Miss Burridge, of Winnipeg, 6-0, 6-4, and, as the two Toronto ladies will contest the singles title tomorrow, at least two championships will go to the Queen City. A third possibly is in the open singles where Rennie, the Toronto crack, entered the finals by defeating Norton, the young Minneapolis player in straight sets. He will meet Paul Bennett, the Manitoba champion, in the final for the honors, the latter having disposed of his club mate, Love, today. Remaining finals in the ladies' open, men's open, mixed doubles and junior singles, will be staged tomorrow.

Following are the results of today's matches:

Open singles, semi finals: Bennett, Winnipeg, defeated Love, Winnipeg, 6-2, 11-10. Rennie, Toronto, defeated Norton, Minneapolis, 6-0, 6-3.

Open doubles, finals: Bennett and Lesitikow, Winnipeg, defeated Milne and Rhodes, Vancouver, 9-6, 6-2, 6-3, 6-2.

Ladies' doubles, finals: Miss Best and Mrs. Bickle, Toronto, defeated Miss Stinson and Miss Burridge, Winnipeg, 6-0, 6-4.

Mixed doubles, semi-finals: La Framboise, Montreal, and Miss Sifton, Winnipeg, defeated Rhodes, Vancouver, and Miss McDonald, Toronto, 6-4, 7-5; Bennett and Miss Maxwell, Winnipeg, defeated Rennie and Miss Best, Toronto, 3-6, 6-3, 6-1.

SPORTS PROGRAMME FOR NAVAL BRIGADE

Public Cordially Invited to Be Present This Afternoon at Boys' Camp, at Rockside Farm—Inspected Yesterday

The Boys' Naval Brigade camp at the Rockside Farm, the Gorge, is to be thrown open to the public from 2:30 o'clock onward this afternoon. Sports events, plus ice cream cones, are to form the day's entertainment.

Although it is less than a week since the lads went under canvas they have already settled down to the routine, and the substitution of a sports programme for the usual drill will be welcomed as much by the embryo seamen as by the spectators who come to view the interesting events. Commencing at 2:30 the programme will run as follows:

100 yards' dash.
Three-legged race.
Wheelbarrow race.
Tug-of-war.
Neat diving.
Long diving.
50 yards sprint (swimming).

The last three events, of course, will take place in the water. Bathing parade has been a daily event for the past five days, and as most of the boys were fairly expert swimmers even before the camp began, they are by this time quite sure of themselves in the water—with the exception of one or two who had their first taste of "the briny" only on their arrival in Victoria to join the party under canvas at the Gorge. Owing to the succession of warm days the water has been in exceptionally inviting condition all through the week, and swimming has been one of the most popular "duties" of each day.

This became apparent on Monday, Dr. Thomas Miller very kindly undertook to conduct "sick parade" daily when the camp was established. A rather surprisingly long list of "barnacle casualties" reported. He prescribed an application of iodine, and forbade bathing for two or three days in order that the curative properties of the liniment might be given full opportunities. Next day no one present on sick parade.

Last Evening's Sing Song

Day by day there has been some variation to give new interest. The day's routine has been ordered after more or less well-defined lines, but each evening, following tea, there has been something novel in the way of entertainment. Last night, for instance, several talented members of the Army and Navy Veterans went out to the camp and gave a programme of songs and monologues, Secretary H. J. Young and Mr. Ernie Down sharing the responsibilities of director and chairman of the affair. Mr. Down's adaptation of "Marching Through Georgia" had been rehearsed by the lads for two or three days, and the proceedings opened with a lusty rendering of the lines, concluding with the following chorus:

Hurrah! Hurrah! We'll soon be all at sea.
Hurrah! Hurrah! How happy we will be.
For we are going to do our duty,
And keep old England free,
When we cross the Straits of Georgia.

This was but the beginning. "Bubbles" followed, sung as a chorus, and in quick succession, with such interruptions as were permissible owing to good-natured applause, there came numbers by F. T. Tibbutt, Sam Doncaster, B. Cooney, E. J. Down, Tom Obee, L. McLeod Gould, C. Askey, H. J. Young and Mrs. Down. Mr. Tom Obee's recruiting song was a particular favorite, and the boys deserted their formal positions on the front seats and sprawled full-length on the grass in order to be the nearer when he was singing.

The "stage" has been arranged on the lawn in front of Mr. Rylands' house, this at the suggestion of the kind host who has already done so much to help the Naval Brigade movement by lending the big field as a camping ground. During the coming week a number of interesting entertainments are planned for the evenings. Tomorrow, as already announced, the boys are being taken for a drive by the Rotarians, and will finish up at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Bushby, St. Charles Street, for tea. This afternoon, following the sports, they will be taken by launch up the Gorge, an expedition to which the visiting boys particularly are looking forward, as all of them have heard something of the attractions of the Victoria resort.

Inspections

Inspections, as everyone knows, tend to keep soldiers and sailors "up to scratch." There have been at least two during the past few days; the first was by Brigadier-General R. P. Clark, president of the Army and Navy Veterans, who paid an informal visit to the camp on Thursday. He has a small son in the Victoria Brigade. And although the lad is not at the camp it was quite natural that General Clark should wish to see how the establishment is run. Yesterday at "three bells in the first dog," in other words at 5:30, Lieut.-Commander Hotham made a formal inspection of the brigade, which was drawn up on the "quarter-deck" staked off in the centre of the field with flags. There were present on the same occasion all the officers: Sub-Lieut. Tribe, the camp commandant; his assistant, Lieut. Crowther, secretary of the British Columbia Division of the Navy League; Mr. Raynor, secretary of the Victoria Branch of the Navy League, and C.P.O. Ellis, brigade instructor.

The little group of seamen-in-the-making made an impressive picture grouped beneath the flag, and the boys listened attentively while he addressed them later and indicated the lines along which he trusted their aspirations lay. The need for merchant seamen was pointed out.

"I don't want you to grow up with war ideas, but efficiency in peace times means success in war," said Commander Hotham. "Don't grow up with the idea that there is to be no more war."

In conclusion he asked them to forget that there was any distinction between Victoria, Vancouver, Nanaimo, or any of the other divisions represented. They were all boys of the Naval Brigade, and must work together for the common good. Above all they must realize that to be respectful and obedient was one of the first essentials of a good seaman.

CALIFORNIANS WIN WASHINGTON TENNIS

Neer Is Defeated by Kinsey in Straight Sets—Joe Tyler Is Eliminated by Weinstein—Keen Interest Aroused

SEATTLE, Aug. 13.—The men's single title of the Washington state tennis championship tourney will be carried to California this year as the result of the elimination of Phil Neer, Oregon state champion, and Joe Tyler, Seattle, in singles matches, by Howard Kinsey and Irving Weinstein, Californians, in today's semi-finals events.

Kinsey defeated Neer in 3 straight sets, 6-2, 6-1, 6-2, while Weinstein outlasted Tyler in a long four-set struggle, winning 6-1, 6-8, 6-3, 6-1. The Californians will meet in the finals tomorrow.

Mrs. J. S. Cushing, Oakland, and Miss Mayme McDonald, Seattle, are placed as finalists for the women's singles title now held by Miss McDonald. Mrs. Cushing won by default from Miss Sarah Livingstone, Seattle, and Miss McDonald defeated Miss Stella Fording, Portland, in straight sets, 6-0, 6-1.

Other results in today's semi-final rounds:

Men's doubles: Kinsey and Weinstein defeated Sam Russell and Tyler, 7-5, 6-1, 6-2. Phil Neer, Portland, and Wallace Scott, Tacoma, defeated R. Burr and Bruce Helskoth, Seattle, 6-1, 6-4, 6-2.

Women's doubles: Mrs. Cushing and Miss McDonald defeated Miss Irene Campbell and Miss Stella Fording, Portland, 6-4, 6-3.

Mrs. R. E. Bragdon and Miss Sarah Livingstone, Seattle, defeated Miss Myra Lambuth and Mrs. Stafford, Seattle, 6-1, 6-3.

Mixed doubles: Miss McDonald, Seattle, and Elmer Griffin, California, defeated Mrs. Bragdon and Irving Weinstein, 6-4, 6-3. Mrs. Cushing and Howard Kinsey defeated Miss Schreiner, Seattle and Wallace Scott, 8-6, 6-3.

Four locomotives of a more powerful type than any heretofore constructed in Japan have been built in the shops of the government railways.

ALMOST TOO GOOD TO BE TRUE, SHE STATES

Victoria Woman Was Almost Without Hope of Regaining Health When She Got Tanlac, and Is Overjoyed at Her Restoration.

"This time last month I was on the verge of nervous prostration but today I am feeling so well it seems almost too good to be true," said Mrs. F. Shaper, of 2435 Quadra Street, Victoria, B. C., while telling of the remarkable benefits she has derived from Tanlac. Mrs. Shaper has lived in Victoria practically all her life and has a wide circle of friends who will be pleased to hear she is once more enjoying splendid health.

"About four months ago," she continued, "I was taken down with a spell of influenza and when I got up I found myself all run-down, and my stomach badly upset. My appetite had left me and a few bites once a day was about all I ever cared to eat. Sometimes just the smell of food nauseated me so I had to get up and leave the table.

"My back ached so bad that I had to stop and sit down or lie down two or three times during the day. Often I could hardly move a chair and if I stooped over the pain nearly killed me. Nervous? why, I was so nervous it was all I could do to keep from screaming out, and I had headaches that almost drove me into hysterics. I was as weak as a baby and was beginning to feel that if I didn't get relief right away I would soon be beyond hope of recovery.

"I was so discouraged and despondent when I began taking Tanlac that I had little or no faith in it but I want to say now, I will always bless the day I took my first dose. It was just what I needed and while I am only on my third bottle I feel so much better I am almost beginning to wonder if there was ever anything the matter with me. My appetite is so fine that I can hardly get enough to eat and the good part of it is that everything digests perfectly. The pains have all left my back and my nerves are calm and steady once more. The headaches have just about all gone and I feel that I have been built up in every way. My housework is now a pleasure and I am only too glad to speak a word of praise for the medicine that has done me so much good."

GENERAL GRANT RUINED BY FINANCIAL WIZARD

Career of Ferdinand Ward, of New York, "Get-Rich-Quick" Schemer, Recalled by Ponzi's Case

NEW YORK, Aug. 13 (By Canadian Press).—Referring to Charles Ponzi, of Boston, the latest "get-rich-quick" wizard, the Wall Street Journal recalls the career of another "wizard" of earlier days, Ferdinand Ward, who startled Wall Street in the early eighties, became the partner in business of General Grant, formerly President of the United States, and was later the defendant in a sensational trial for fraud. His failure ruined the Grant family. The Journal gives this sketch of Ward:

There came to New York in 1877 a pale, slim young man, who introduced himself as Ferdinand Ward. He secured a place at the New York Produce Exchange at $1,000 a year. He seemed to be a bright young man. Within three years he had married the daughter of the cashier of the Marine National Bank and was on terms of intimate friendship with the president of the bank, Mr. J. D. Fish. His ability to make and hold friends was remarkable.

Ward made excellent business connections and in a short time was looked upon as one of the shrewdest young men in the "Street."

Two years after his arrival in New York he met Ulysses Grant, second son of General U. S. Grant, who had established himself with a law firm in New York. Young Grant had charge of considerable property, including his father's, and some trust estates, etc. Ward, soon after he met Grant, asked him to join him in a speculation in some flour certificates. Grant supplied the money and the speculation turned out to be a profitable one. Grant was next able to buy some seats on the Produce Exchange. This speculation was also gratifying in the result. Ward was rising. He was the magician who turned everything to gold. He now proposed to organize a private bank, in which he was to be financial agent, with J. D. Fish and General Grant as silent partners. Grant consented to this plan. A meeting between General Grant and Ward took place in 1880, at which time Ward was regarded as one of the most brilliant men in Wall Street. Every venture he had been connected with had been a success.

Got Big Ones

The firm of Grant & Ward began business at the corner of Wall Street and Broadway. From the beginning it ranked high as a financial institution. It began business with a capital of $400,000, of which General Grant supplied $100,000. Grant was merely a silent partner. He knew nothing of business; everything was left to Ward, the financial wizard, who swept Wall Street off its feet by the enormous dividends paid to "investors." He was soon the most talked of man in New York. Ward never played to the gallery. It was the big man he was interested in, and the big man he "got." They were eager to get him to use their money in his "contracts," which it was quietly whispered around were secured through the influence of General Grant. He would "only let a few friends in."

In three years the firm of Grant & Ward had grown from a capital of $400,000 to an estimated wealth of $15,000,000. Occasionally a statement was sent to General Grant, but it is said that he seldom examined them. His faith in Ward was complete. It appeared that everything Ward became interested in succeeded.

The first cloud appeared in May, 1884. One Sunday afternoon Ward called on General Grant. He explained to the General and to young Grant that the day before Mr. Tappan, the city chamberlain, had drawn on the Marine Bank, which bank held funds on deposit for the city. Mr. Ward further stated that it would be necessary to put some money in the Marine Bank before the Clearing House opened on the following morning, because, he stated, "We have $660,000 there, and it would embarrass us very much if the bank should close its doors."

Financiers Suspicious

After much discussion General Grant was induced to borrow $150,000 from W. K. Vanderbilt. Mr. Vanderbilt told General Grant very pointedly that he would only advance the money as a personal loan, evidently having very little faith in Ward. Ward got the money and the next night he sent a message to young Grant that the city chamberlain had drawn another big cheque on the Marine Bank, and that it would be necessary to raise $500,000. "I'll get $250,000 and you do the same," the message read.

Young Grant took a list of negotiable securities to Jay Gould and asked for a loan, but Gould evidently had his suspicions about Ward, too, for he very curtly refused to advance any money on the securities offered.

In company with an attorney, Grant decided to go to Ward's house in Brooklyn late Monday night to inform him that he had failed to raise the money. Long after midnight Ward came in, saying he had been out to see some capitalists. He had failed to raise the required money, but seemed to be undisturbed by his failure. He promised to meet Grant early next morning, but during the night he disappeared. He left a note to his wife, saying the Marine Bank would fail the next day. It did fail. Grant & Ward failed, too, and the whole Grant family was ruined—completely ruined. Horses, carriages, real estate, and even the General's souvenirs, war trophies, swords, etc., were sold to pay the loan from Mr. Vanderbilt. Mr. Vanderbilt returned these later to Mrs. Grant, and eventually they were deposited in the National Museum.

Every effort was made to involve General Grant in the criminal efforts of Ward & Fish, and every effort failed.

Ward's System

At the trial Ward confessed that he had been insolvent for two years. He confessed that there had been no contracts. When he "invested in a contract" he had deposited the money to his personal account. The money General Grant borrowed from Vanderbilt was deposited to his personal account.

According to Ward's confession, his method was to borrow large sums of money for investment. He would then set aside part of this fund for dividends, and by paying these large dividends regularly, the investor was induced to leave the money in Ward's hands. These large dividends attracted other funds and the victims streamed into Ward's office, anxious to do the same thing. Fish was sentenced to seven years' imprisonment and Ward to ten years.

General Grant was hurried to his grave by the financial distress that the failure of Grant & Ward brought on him, though the immediate cause of death was epithelial cancer.

Half sick men and women who scarcely know what ails them, will be given a new lease of life, with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Depressed spirits disappear, headaches are forgotten, appetite increases, blood is purified and enriched, pains at the base of the spine are cured, the nerves are toned up, ambition to work is increased, and day by day the old-time health and vigor return.

A trial only is necessary to prove how beneficial Dr. Hamilton's Pills are to all who are weak, nervous, thin, described or in failing health.

FORECASTS INCREASE

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 13.—An increase of 20 per cent in transpacific passenger rates, effective within a month, was forecast today by B. N. Thomas, general passenger agent of the China Mail Steamship Company. The Japanese Government has just granted the Toyo Kisen Kaisha Company permission to advance its tariffs, and other big companies will undoubtedly follow the lead of the T.K.K. in advancing rates, Mr. Thomas said.

First-class passage at present between San Francisco and Yokohama is $250. Fare between here and Hongkong, via Manila, is now $365.

LAWN TENNIS—END OF AMERICAN TOUR

By a Special Correspondent of The London Times

The American Davis Cup team have now ended their raid on these islands, and in imagination one sees their ship nearing America like an old-time frigate entering its home port—flags flying, deep with booty, and her mastheads gleaming with captured silver. Captain Hardy may well be satisfied with his crew. In winning their Davis Cup ties—and that without the loss of a match—they accomplished the main object of their expedition, and incidentally they took the opportunity of carrying off our two most important championships. Moreover, they have won golden opinions from all sorts of people.

There is the less bitterness in our defeat that, although squarely beaten, our men made a good fight against players who—one and all—can do astounding things with a racket. That is not to say that the Americans showed us strokes that were new to the Centre Court. Mr. Caridia took the ball on the rise while Mr. Williams was in long clothes; when Mr. Risely threw in his "Old Guard" he was as likely to win a game in four hard services as Mr. Tilden; Mr. Johnston did nothing with the backhand smash that was beyond Mr. Mahony, and his famous forehand drive—at Wimbledon—was no harder and a good deal less accurate than Mr. S. H. Smith's; Mr. Garland has many strokes, but his chief strength lies in knowing when not to attempt them, and against him we can set Mr. H. L. Doherty.

There have been other years when that which made American players formidable was their mastery of some particular stroke—the American service, for instance. That was not the decisive factor in their winning the international matches this Summer; indeed, as far as their victory was to be set down to strokes it was due to variety rather than to specialization. Anyone who follows lawn tennis can mention Englishmen who might have been champions but for their inability to do one of the four or five essential strokes as well as the second-class player.

A National Cult

Presumably the Americans at one time had their weakness, but they have worked over them until there is no change to be had from them, drive or volley, backhand or forehand; moreover, the service—a stroke that it is dull work practising—is with them a national cult. When Mr. Johnston, Mr. Williams, and Mr. Tilden think it expedient to ask themselves for an untakable service how often they got it! And how many English players but would gladly exchange services with Mr. Garland. As to variety, Mr. Johnston does not need to make a succession of great drives from the back of the court to win his point; when his advantage is established he can finish off the rally with the minimum of risk at the net as conclusively as any volleyer. Last year we should have called Mr. Garland a driver, and the description would have been recognizable, if incomplete; this year he showed in the doubles that it would be misleading, for he volleyed as well as he drove. To see Mr. Tilden stretching almost from one net-post to the other is to think of him as a net player, but with his drag drives, his punch drive, and his lobs he could beat all except a few players if he were barred from volleying. In one sense it is true that Mr. Williams loses matches by playing too few strokes, but that it because it is possible to him to finish off a rally from any position in one stroke, and he is artist enough to try to do so when it is advisable on commercial grounds to take three.

There have been years when the success of American players might not have been in the best interests of the game. If they had got just a little more out of their development of the service it would have become so predominant a factor that the give-and-take of the rallies—and it is that which makes the game—would have become secondary; again—although one does not forget Mr. Larned—there was a time when they thought they could reduce the game—and reduce is the word—to service and volleying. For such players as Mr. Holcombe Ward, Mr. Behr, and to a lesser degree, Mr. Beals Wright (from whom, perhaps, Mr. Tilden inherits his chop-drive), the drive was like the waiting-room at a railway station—a convenience, but one they would rather have been in a position to dispense with. But as there can be no volley in lawn tennis until there has been a drive, the drive is the foundation of the game. Mr. Smith, Mr. Wilding, and Mr. Parke proved the worth of the drive to the American volleyers. The strain of the all-volleying game was shown when Mr. H. L. Doherty, after losing two sets in 1905 to Mr. Ward (7-9, 4-6), proceeded to pick up the next three, 6-1, 6-2, 6-0, but Mr. Doherty was among other things a supreme volleyer, and the contrast between the effect of the two strokes was brought out more clearly in 1906 in the match between Mr. Smith and Mr. Ward, for Mr. Smith was exclusively a base-liae player. Mr. Smith won 6-1, 6-0, 6-4; and nothing equal to his display of driving in the first two sets has been seen since his retirement. It was said to be Mr. Smith's practice to concentrate his attention on the ball and to ignore the man who proposed to intercept it on the volley. When Mr. Ward was at the net he was passed as if he did not exist, and when he stayed back and lobbed up short ones to put the driver off his length the response sent him on a fruitless errand into the side canvas; for the 20 minutes that those two sets lasted he personified the dictum: "Nothing exceeds the vanity of our existence but the folly of our pursuits"—and he was a very fine player.

More Variety

The Americans learned their lesson. They gave up nothing of what was good in their own discoveries—the service which wins aces outright or gains the attack, the volleys which compel an opponent to do something decisive when he wants to mark time; but they modified their own practice in regard to both. There is now more variety in the typical American game. Mr. Tilden can serve as fast as Mr. McLoughlin, but he saves up the fast one for times when the striker is disposing himself for another screwing bouncer to the backhand. All four members of this team can follow a service to the net and kill the return, but they seldom play so exhausting a game. Finally every one of them—if the distinction has to be made—is more a driver than a volleyer. They have readopted the orthodox game in all its variety, but theirs is the orthodox game enriched still further with the spoil of their own adventurous excursions into the unknown. Our own great drivers—Mr. Smith and Mr. Gore—relied on speed and length; they banged and went on banging with much the same stroke; Mr Tilden's opponent may take—we are assuming he is very clever—two hard deep drives from the full face of the racket into the corner and then—just when he is congratulating himself on having timed the pace of the stroke—there will come a high-bouncing short one that drags itself away from the racket.

The success of this year's American team has been in the best interests of the game.

CARGO ON FIRE

CAPETOWN, Aug. 13.—A wireless message received here today from the British steamer Kaduna, which arrived at Capetown, August 4, from Montreal, and later sailed for other South African ports, indicated that the cargo in hold No. 3 was on fire. The message adds that the vessel was steaming toward Simonstown, twenty miles south of Capetown.

PANTAGES THEATRE Eclipsing all else at the Pantages Theatre this week are Kiddie and her mama. There are several persons of note on the Pantages bill—Charles Purse and Dorothy Richards, Josephine Davis and two decorative assistants, Harvey, Honey and Grave, Maurice Golden and a numerous company, but all fall into insignificance before little Pan, the youngest vaudeville actor in the world, a child of the Pantages circuit. Pan is an eight weeks' old monkey, born in Minneapolis, who has never been more than the length of his own little tail away from his mother. And never was there a more jealous or more careful mother; no one but her, not even

Mr. Charles Schapp, who "runs" the miniature animal circus of which they are a part, has ever touched him. Never do her thoughts or her capable hands leave him. Kiddie clings to Pan and Pan literally clings to his mother. When she moves he moves. To the average patron, this will be one of the most interesting features of today's bill of excellent vaudeville.

DOMINION THEATRE During the filming of "Shore Acres," the Metro picturization of James A. Herne's world famous stage play, which is the feature attraction at the Dominion Theatre, the company of film actors were thrilled by Guy Pulley, the head location carpenter, falling overboard. The company was taking night scenes on a sailing vessel in San Francisco Bay, when Pulley lost his balance and plunged into the water. Members of the company threw him a line, and after some manouvering the carpenter was hauled safely back on board. He expressed himself as being rather chilled by his sudden and unexpected "dip," and explained that the plank upon which he was standing had slipped. In James A. Herne's celebrated play many scenes are laid along the seashore, for the story, it will be remembered, is situated on the coast of Maine, where the two brothers, Martin and Nathan'l Berry, are the keepers of a lighthouse. It is in this lighthouse that the famous dramatic struggle between the two brothers takes place, when the ship that is bearing the daughter of Martin away with her lover is leaving the harbor.

ROYAL VICTORIA "Should a Husband Forgive?" will conclude its remarkably successful run at the Royal Victoria Theatre tonight. This splendid picture, a William Fox special, has scored its hit as much by virtue of its keen human interest as by its quality of mammoth production. The racing scenes are given an uncommonly fine presentation. The boxing match, staged at the Broadway Athletic Club, in Brooklyn, New York, is one of the most convincing things of the kind ever attempted on the screen. Honors go to R. A. Walsh, who wrote and directed the picture, and to the cast of stars headed by Miriam Cooper.

VARIETY THEATRE Patrons of the Variety Theatre found Eugene O'Brien, in "His Wife's Money," much to their liking. The picture will continue as the attraction today for the last time. "His Wife's Money" has a story which is absorbingly interesting. It sends everyone who sees it out of the theatre wondering what he would have done under the same circumstances. The production is adequate, and Mr. O'Brien and Zena Keefe, as Richard Flint and Marion Phillips, respectively, give splendid performances.

COLUMBIA THEATRE Charles Ray, the youthful screen star, has risen to fame largely on account of his ability to interpret country boy roles supremely well. The man who has been furnishing him with most of the characters that he makes live in pictures is Julien Josephson. Mr. Josephson is the author of such Ray classics as "The Egg Crate Wallop," "Bill Henry," and "Paris Green," the feature attraction at the Columbia Theatre this week. He writes about small town people because he is a small town product himself. Not many years ago Julien Josephson was running the general store in a little village in Oregon. He tried to introduce into its management some of the ideas he had picked up while a student at Leland Stanford University. They didn't work out too well, and he soon closed up shop and went to San Francisco. It was while trying to eke out a living there as a shoe salesman that Mr. Josephson submitted his first story to Thomas H. Ince. The latter liked it so well that, after a little talk with the author, he signed him to a long term contract to write stories for Charles Ray.

"FAIR AND WARMER" LAST TIME TODAY AT THE PRINCESS

"Fair and Warmer" which opened Wednesday night at the Princess theatre has been delighting the patrons at each performance.

It is decidedly the greatest comedy success that New York has produced in a number of years.

The players are all cast to advantage and Walter Seigfried, the new member of the company, who is making his first appearance with the Mildred Page Players in the role of Jack Wheeler in "Fair and Warmer," is living up to all the splendid things that have been heard of him.

All are glad to welcome Miss Gulbert back after her week's absence, and she is her usual charming self in the sprightly maid part she is playing.

William Campbell is doing a clever bit of character work as the muscular express man in the last act.

Miss Page and Mr. Aldean are handling their difficult parts in a manner to gain the praise of even the most critical mind.

"Fair and Warmer" is well worth seeing, the rooms, the scenery, the acting are all just what the play required, and there isn't a dull moment during the whole evening. You'll get the laugh of your life at "Fair and Warmer," playing the last time today with a special matinee and usual evening performance.

JOINT CONTROL OF OIL SUPPLIES

Text of Reciprocal Agreement Reached Between Great Britain and France—Native Interests in Mesopotamia

The result of the negotiations on the subject of Mesopotamia and other oil supplies, their treatment, exploitation, and division, which began between France and Great Britain soon after the Armistice, and were concluded in April last, has now been made public in a White Paper.

Although the agreement covers Franco-British interests in Roumania, Anatolia, Galicia, territories formerly comprised within the Russian Empire and French and British Crown Colonies, the point of greatest interest lies in the Mesopotamian clauses which provide for the participation of the native Government of Mesopotamia on a basis of one-fifth share, while France and Great Britain have shares of 18 per cent and 63 per cent respectively. The Mesopotamian share is the result of the voluntary surrender of the other two partners of a proportion of the rights enjoyed by them under the original Turkish concessions.

The Joint Memorandum

The following is the text of the Memorandum of Agreement between M. Philippe Berthelot, Directeur des Affaires Politiques et Commerciales au Ministere des Affaires Etrangeres, and Professor Sir John Cadman, Director in Charge of His Majesty's Petroleum Department:

By order of the two Governments of France and Great Britain, the undersigned have resumed, by mutual consent, the consideration of an agreement regarding petroleum.

1. This agreement is based on the principles of cordial co-operation and reciprocity in those countries where the oil interests of the two nations can be usefully united. This memorandum relates to the following States or countries:

Roumania, Asia Minor, territories of the old Russian Empire, Galicia, French Colonies, and British Crown Colonies.

2. The agreement may be extended to other countries by mutual consent.

3. Roumania—The British and French Governments shall support their respective nationals in any common negotiations to be entered into with the Government of Roumania for—

(a) The acquisition of oil concessions, shares or other interests belonging to former enemy subjects or bodies in Roumania which have been sequestered, e.g., the Setaus Romana, Concordia, Vega, etc., which constituted in that country the oil groups of the Deutsche Bank, and of the Disconto Gesellscraft, together with any other interests that may be obtainable.

(b) Concessions over oil lands belonging to the Roumanian State.

4. All shares belonging to former enemy concessions which can be secured and all other advantages derived from these negotiations shall be divided, 50 per cent to British interests and 50 per cent to French interests. It is understood that in the company or companies to be formed to undertake the management and the exploitation of the said shares, concessions, and other advantages, the countries shall have the same proportion of 50 per cent in all capital subscribed, as well as in representatives on the board, and voting power.

5. Territories of the Late Russian Empire—In the territories which belonged to the late Russian Empire, the two Governments will give their joint support to their respective nationals in their joint efforts to obtain petroleum concessions and facilities to export, and to arrange delivery of petroleum supplies.

7. Mesopotamia—The British Government undertake to grant to the French Government or its nominee 25 per cent of the net output of crude oil at current market rates which His Majesty's Government may secure from the Mesopotamian oilfields, in the event of their being developed by Government action; or in the event of a private petroleum company being used to develop the Mesopotamian oilfields, the British Government will place at the disposal of the French Government a share of 25 per cent in such company. The price to be paid for such participation to be no more than that paid by any of the other participants to the said petroleum company. It is also understood that the said petroleum company shall be under permanent British control.

8. It is agreed that, should the private petroleum company be constituted as aforesaid, the native Government or other native interests shall be allowed, if they so desire, to participate, up to a maximum of 20 per cent of the share capital of the said company. The French shall contribute one-half of the first 10 per cent of such native participation and the additional participation shall be provided by each participant in proportion to his holdings.

9. The British Government agree to support arrangements by which the French Government may procure from the Anglo-Persian Oil Company supplies of oil, which may be piped from Persia to the Mediterranean through any pipe-line which may have been constructed within the French mandated territory and in regard to which France has given special facilities, up to the extent of 25 per cent of the oil so piped, on such terms and conditions as may be mutually agreed between the French Government and the Anglo-Persian Company.

10. In consideration of the above-mentioned arrangements the French Government shall agree, if it is desired and as soon as application is made, to the construction of two separate pipe-lines and railways necessary for their construction and maintenance and for the transport of oil from Mesopotamia and Persia through French spheres of influence to a port or ports on the Eastern Mediterranean. The port or ports shall be chosen in agreement between the two Governments.

11. Should such pipe-line and railway cross territory within a French sphere of influence, France undertakes to give every facility for the rights of crossing without any royalty or wayleaves on the oil transported. Nevertheless, compensation shall be payable to the landowners for the surface occupied.

12. In the same way France will give facilities at the terminal port for the acquisition of the land necessary for the erection of depots, railways, refineries, loading wharves, etc. Oil thus exported shall be exempt for export and transit dues. The material necessary for the construction of the pipe-lines, railways, refineries, and other equipment shall also be free from import duties and wayleaves.

13. Should the said petroleum company desire to lay a pipe-line and a railway to the Persian Gulf, the British Government will use its good office to secure similar facilities for that purpose.

14. North Africa and other Colonies—The French Government will give facilities to any Franco-British group or groups of good standing, which furnish the necessary guarantees and comply with French laws, for the acquisition of oil concessions in the French colonies, protectorates and zones of influence, including Algeria, Tunis and Morocco. It should be noted that the French Parliament has resolved that groups so formed must contain at least 67 per cent French interests.

15. The French Government will facilitate the granting of any concessions in Algeria which are now under consideration as soon as the applicants have complied with all the requirements of the French laws.

16. British Crown Colonies—In so far as existing regulations allow, the British Government will give to French subjects who may wish to prospect and exploit petroliferous lands in the Crown Colonies similar advantages to those which France is granting to British subjects in the French colonies.

17. Nothing in this agreement shall apply to concessions which may be the subject of negotiations initiated by French or British interests.

18. This agreement has today been initialled by M. Philippe Berthelot and Professor Sir John Cadman, subject to confirmation by the French and British Prime Minister respectively.

Air Mail to Holland

LONDON, August 13.—(By Canadian Press)—A daily service for the dispatch of mails by airplane between London and Amsterdam began on July 15th. The air mail fee—which is in addition to the ordinary foreign postage charge—has been fixed at the low rate of 3d. per packet. The fee for express delivery is 6d. per packet. Express packets are delivered normally the same evening in Amsterdam and Rotterdam. It is possible by this means for a London business house to receive a reply from Amsterdam within 30 hours.

HARD-WORKED MONARCH

"Trivial Round and Common Task" of Priest-King of Bunyoro

Mr. John Roscoe, leader of the Mackie Ethnographical Expedition to Uganda, in a letter which has just reached England, shows that "the trivial round, the common task" of a Central African potentate, who is priest and King and father of his people, furnishes all that a monarch, however avid of work, ought to ask. Mr. Roscoe, whose letter is dated May 23, says:

"My arrival at Bunyoro was most timely; we have experienced heavy rain from the time I reached until the present. I have had, and still have, some intensely interesting investigation among these pastoral people. During the expedition there has been no tribe with so rich an information.

"The King has for years been surrounded with elaborate milk ceremonial, and his life seems to have been daily spent as the great priest of the tribe. From early morning to the last thing at night he was exercised in the priestly office. In the early hours he began by having his great toes anointed to cleanse his path from danger; he then went to cleanse his land from magic and evil and to obtain blessing upon country and people; next came the ceremony of sanctifying the milk, and when that was over he had to set his magistrates the example of settling legal matters with justice. Having done this he had to go to herd some special cattle and thus bring blessing upon the cattle. Each afternoon he had to partake of some sacred meat and thus give his blessing to the food of the country, and he ends his day by guarding the place from danger until the late hours of the night.

"Let me give some details in explanation of these ceremonies by briefly recounting some of them. First, the early morning ceremony when he goes to his bathroom; two yearling bulls, one black the other red and black, are brought to him. He takes the black bull by the horns, and placing his forehead on a white patch on the bull's forehead he asks the Creator to remove all the evil of the night from him and his people, then taking the red and black bull he asks for blessing, by placing his head against that of the bull as before.

"Later comes the ceremony of milking the sacred cows. When these are milked the ceremony of drinking the milk comes, when every person in the royal enclosure must remain still and quiet, not even coughing or clearing the throat on the pain of death. I pass over the trial of cases to the time when he has to go to herd some cows and thus ensure blessing upon the herds of the land.

"In the afternoon, at about four o'clock, he has to partake of some sacred beef. Before doing so he beats one beat on each of nine sacred drums, which informs the people that he is about to eat, and enjoins silence; all the people cower and cover their faces wherever they may be. The special cook comes purified, carrying a special fork, and his servant a bowl of meat. The cook kneels in front of the King, who sits on his throne while the cook puts four pieces of meat into his mouth, and has to be careful lest the fork should touch the teeth, because that would mean death to him. After the meat is eaten the sacred herd of cows comes again, and after they are milked the King drinks milk as in the morning.

"During the past three months I have been engaged in investigating these cow customs, and find the people have the most wonderful knowledge of cows, and feel sure they would be able to turn this country to profitable use with encouragement and assistance from the British. Without any aid or science they have gained extraordinary insight into disease and the care of cattle. With a little training they would become expert cowmen and supply European markets with meat as well as sending butter and cheese."

How R. R. Rate Increase Will Touch Family Purse

No one can hope to avoid paying his share of the railroad worker's wages and the cost of new railway extension and improvements, by merely refusing to travel. "Every pound of food eaten, every ton of fuel burned, every garment worn and every stick of timber entering into the construction of homes will contribute its share" to the gigantic total, reasons The Washington Post, which estimates that it means a per capita tax of $12.00 on every man, woman and child in the United States for higher freight rates alone, and perhaps $15.00, when all the increases are taken into consideration. In view of such estimates THE LITERARY DIGEST believes it worth while to gather for its readers the views of leading authorities in various important industries on the precise effect of the new rates in their respective fields. In some cases the statements were found in newspaper interviews, in others they come in response to direct telegram and telephone queries. At any rate, this summary of opinion has been incorporated in an interesting and instructive article in THE LITERARY DIGEST for August 14th, 1920. You will wish to read it.

AT LAST—An opportunity to buy a piece of acreage in the suburbs at a reasonable price and upon convenient terms.

AN opportunity to go into the business of growing small fruits (including strawberries), and the raising of chickens with the ultimate goal of independence.

THE PROPERTY COMPRISES 200 ACRES OF THE SAYWARD FARM

WRITE, phone or call for plan—do it today.

THIS is not a subdivision in the bush, nor one of difficult access to the city (it's only 8 miles out). It is a close-in subdivision where values are bound to increase owing to the demand for property in this and other parts of the Saanich district. The demand is keen for both residential and agricultural purposes, for people are realizing that it is by far healthier and cheaper to live outside the city.

WITH the reasonable prices and terms we are asking we expect quick disposition of this land, and the present indications are that it will take but a few weeks to dispose of it.

DON'T forget to write, 'phone or call for plan and any further particulars you may desire.

NOTE—This property commands a beautiful view. Overlooking Elk Lake, the Straits and Islands.

ARIZONA MARU HERE ON MAIDEN VOYAGE

New O.S.K. Liner Docked Yesterday at Noon — Was Launched at Nagasaki on June 22

Making her maiden voyage from the Orient, the new O. S. K. liner Arizona Maru docked here at noon yesterday after a good run across the Pacific.

The new ship, launched on June 22 from the Mitsu Bishi Yard, at Nagasaki, has better third-class quarters than those of the Arabia Maru class of steamers. She is of 9,696 tons gross and 6,069 tons net, with a displacement of 18,000 tons. She was designed for a speed of sixteen knots. She averaged 13.6 knots on her run across the Pacific.

The liner has accommodation for 39 cabin passengers and 300 steerage travelers. All the fittings in the passenger and officers' quarters are of Japanese teak. The dining saloon is decorated in white enamel, and a feature of this compartment are the small tables for the seating of small parties.

The Arizona Maru brought in 197 passengers all told, including 35 cabin. She brought in a capacity cargo including 234 tons for Victoria and 60 tons for Vancouver.

Among the equipment of an up-to-date salvage ship are searchlights, line-throwing guns, rock drills, hoisting machines, etc.

The Time used is Pacific Standard, for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish High Water from Low Water. Where blanks occur in the tables, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The Height is in feet and tenths of a foot, above the average level of lower Low Water.

Esquimalt—To find the depth of water on the sill of the drydock at any tide, add 19.0 feet to the height of High Water as above given.

STOCKS-BONDS-LOCAL MARKETS

MARKETS REPORTED QUIET AT PRESENT

Potatoes Have Dropped Considerably and Turnips Also Are Cheaper — Fish and Feed Are Unchanged

The markets are quiet this week, there being very few changes reported, and those that are noted, being mostly reductions. The most noteworthy thing in the fruit line is the arrival of a car of bananas, but the retail price is dearer now, being quoted at 75 cents per dozen. Potatoes have taken a considerable drop, the wholesale price for both Victoria New and Mainland New, being $2.50 per sack. The retail price is reduced from 7 lbs, for 25 cents, to 8 lbs. for 25 cents. Turnips also have dropped in price, going from $2.25 to $1.75—$2.25. Hothouse tomatoes have risen from 30c to 35c a lb.

Only one change is noted in the meat department, loins of lamb being 50 cents, instead of 60 cents, retail, while the price is 30c, instead of 31c, wholesale.

Fish remains stationary, and there are no changes in the flour and feed prices.

P. G. E. PROSPECTS

New General Manager Enthusiastic Over Possibilities of Government-Owned Road

"The line is in excellent shape to handle what promises to be the best Fall and Winter business in its history," said Mr. A. B. Buckworth, general manager of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway, who returned to Vancouver Friday morning after his first general trip of inspection from Squamish to Quesnel.

"New equipment is here and on the way to Vancouver that will greatly assist in maintaining an adequate service. The first of three new locomotives left Kingston a week ago and the other two are due to leave shortly. Three new passenger coaches are on the way and three new cabooses are here now."

Good progress on the Deep Creek bridge, the completion of which will allow the line to be pushed on toward Fort George, was reported by Mr. Buckworth, who gave praise to Mr. A. F. Proctor, Provincial chief engineer, for its design. One of the finest on the continent, he called it. When completed the bridge will have a length of 1,193 feet between walls and a depth of 289 feet from rails to foundation. Two thousand tons of steel are being fabricated into the structure by the Canadian Bridge Company of Walkerville.

Mr. Buckworth was enthusiastic about the development going on in the Lillooet, Cariboo and Chilcotin countries, all tributary to the Pacific Great Eastern.

"We expect to carry at least 10,000 head of cattle from the Chilcotin and the Cariboo this Fall," he said, "and between 250 and 300 cars of potatoes, in addition to beans, hay, fruit and other products of the soil. Settlers are going in fast and the country offers many opportunities for men of energy."

The line and its equipment, Mr. Buckworth reported to be in a state of high efficiency, citing the handling of a 1,100-ton train over the Mons summit on a 2.2 per cent grade with a "54" engine as an example of the good practice obtaining. It was too soon, however, he said, to outline his own policy with regard to the administration of the road, which for the present would be one of development as fast as finances would allow.

STOCK PRICES TAKE SHARP UPWARD TURN

Final Quotations Show Large Gains on Day's Business—Domestic Developments Are Chiefly Responsible

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—The stock market gave an impressive exhibition of strength today. Final prices were 1 to 7 points higher for many influential shares. The rise effaced the greater part of the week's early losses, and carried many leaders well above last Saturday's close.

Buying had its origin in the opinion that the market, at least for the time being, had been liquidated, and that a turn for the better had set in. Inquiry embraced practically the entire list.

The steels, oils, shippings, equipments, tobaccos, foods, motors, rubber, textiles and high and low priced railroads were purchased on a steadily ascending scale.

When speculators for the decline began to cover, they found stocks scarce and were forced to bid up prices rapidly to secure a sufficient supply.

Total sales approximated 400,000 shares.

Foreign news was relegated to the background as a factor, and there was more inclination to take account of the strength of sterling and the plentiful supplies of call money for speculative purposes. Reports that the long pending merger of various chemical corporations would be completed, and the declaration of a 200 per cent stock dividend for the Standard Oil Co. were stimulating influences.

Improvement in the high class railroads was attributed to purchases by investment interests.

Bonds maintained their recent uneven course. Foreign issues were well sustained, but Liberty and Victory loans continued to give way. Old U. S. bonds were unchanged on call. Total sales, par value, $7,500,000.

WEEK HAS BEEN BUSY ONE FOR YARROW'S

Esquimalt Firm Has Done Numerous Jobs—Work on C.P.O.S. Freighter Mattawa Biggest of Them All

The local ship repairing plant of Yarrow's Limited, has had a busy week. The steamer Mont Etna left the drydock at eight o'clock last Sunday morning after undergoing cleaning and painting, and was at once replaced by the C.P.O.S. freighter Mattawa, which had a new stern tube and stern tube liner put in. The Mattawa left on Wednesday for Vancouver.

The Government lighthouse tender Estevan, which has been at Yarrow's for some time, undergoing a general refit, left the plant yesterday morning and came around to the Inner Harbor.

The Hercules and the tug Sir John Jackson came off the marine railway yesterday afternoon after being cleaned and painted.

The Esquimalt yard is also making some spars for the barquentine Alta, which is lying in the Royal Roads.

Telemotor repairs were made to the Royal Goodfellow, which lay in the Royal Roads until the work was done. She left on Tuesday for Rio de Janeiro with a cargo of coal.

The C.P.R. steamer Princess Adelaide was on the marine railway for a short time Tuesday night to have a new propeller blade put in place.

SEEK REDUCTION IN EXPRESSAGE ON FISH

VANCOUVER, Aug. 13.—While holding out little hope of escaping the proposed increase in freight and express rates, members of the Canadian Fisheries' Association, which is representative of practically all the fishery interests in the Dominion, will make a strenuous effort to have the new tariff on fish cut down to a minimum and have the cheaper grades of fish, such as flat fish, pinks, chums, etc., exempt altogether.

This was one of the matters under discussion at the luncheon of the association.

Following the discussion a resolution was passed endorsing this action and voting a sum of money as Vancouver's quota in the expense which will be incurred.

Longshoremen Strike Off

NEW YORK, Aug. 13.—Coastwise longshoremen, who have been on strike here since March 13, voted at a mass meeting tonight to go back to work Monday morning, providing the steamship owners get rid of the strikebreakers they have employed.

They agree to submit their demands, including a wage increase of 15 cents an hour, to arbitration after they return to work.

A committee of the strikers will wait on the steamship owners tomorrow and report back to a special meeting of the longshoremen to be held on Sunday.

Appoint Canadian Agents

MONTREAL, Aug. 13.—An arrangement was concluded yesterday whereby the Canada Steamship Lines, Ltd., become the sole passenger and freight agents in Canada of the United States Mail Steamship Company, a corporation which has taken over from the United States Government a large number of former German passenger and freight vessels.

Women are now eligible to serve on English juries.

NEWS OF THE MINES

P. B. Freeland, the resident mining engineer, has the following to say about the Providence Mine in the 1919 Report of the Minister of Mines: "This mine, situated one mile north of the town of Greenwood, has been operated under lease by Al. Morrison and D. McGillis, of Greenwood. The present owners have installed an electric compressor with a capacity of 600 cubic feet of air, and also pumps, with which they have unwatered the old shaft down to the 500-foot level. Development consists of 260 feet of drifting in a southerly direction on the 300-foot level, and 216 feet in the 400-foot level, with 80 feet of raising between the 300 and 400-foot levels. Shipments were made to the smelters amounting to 338 tons, with a total content of 267 oz. of gold, 38,903 oz. silver, and 7,616 lb. of lead. Cost of treatment, about $5.50 a ton; rail transportation, $5.50 a ton. At current prices of gold, silver and lead, the ore shipped was worth about $130 per ton.

The MacLeod River Coal Mine is shipping regularly to Prince Rupert. It is located about 800 miles from the Coast on the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway. The present production is four carloads a week, which is being marketed in Prince Rupert and Edmonton.

The season's work has been well under way in the Portland Canal district for some weeks. With the snow gone and prospectors and miners in the hills, the towns of Stewart and Hyder are almost deserted. On the various properties along the Salmon and the Bear Rivers, however, activity prevails. The only notable new discovery reported is on the Georgia River, a few miles drown the river from Stewart, where a number of gold bearing claims have been recorded. Samples indicate that they are rich, but their possibilities must yet be established by development. The Marmot River also is being well prospected, and many promising claims have been located. For the rest, development work is continuing on all the better known mines and prospects of the Portland Canal, and road construction is in progress to assist in the opening up of the mineral zone. The Unicorn Group is to be drilled, a contract having been awarded to Lynch Bros, of Seattle, Wash., and F. P. Stewart, familiarly known as "Pap," has returned to the camp to supervise plans for the opening up of the Mountain Boy Group of Crown granted mineral claims. "Pap" is a pioneer of the Portland Canal district, being credited with responsibility for directing the attention of Sir Donald Mann to the potentialities of the district.

There are employed at the Nickel Plate Mine, Hedley, B. C., about 150 men, two-thirds of whom are at work underground and the remainder either at the mill, situated at Hedley, or the power plant. The company is extracting gold bearing ore running, on average, $9 to the ton. As it costs about $8.50 a ton to mine, the profits are not large, in fact they are so negligible as to be scarcely worth mentioning. This was not so when the ore approximated $12 a ton, and it is stated that considerable development is planned in expectation that a body of richer ore will be encountered. Ore is being taken out of the Nickel Plate at several levels, the upper one being six hundred feet lower still. Ore cars holding two tons run on a narrow gauge electric railway for a mile out of the mine. Then the ore is dumped into a tipple at the top of a steep sidehill. From the tipple the gold bearing ore is dumped into cars operating on long steel cables and running down a sidehill that seems almost perpendicular. The long slide to the mill in the town itself is made in two sections and passengers who go up or down on the ore trams sit tight and fervently hope that nothing breaks. A trip to the Nickel Plate in one of the little ore cars beats anything in the roller coaster line on any midway.
